ABOUT THIS GUIDE

PART 1: BUILDER BASICS

Welcome to Alefgard, hero! This official Dragon Quest Builders strategy guide gets you started on your adventure by introducing all the skills needed to play through the game, from building basic items to overcoming obstacles by using your environment. Beyond the basics, we provide information that helps you place blocks with quick efficiency while building, remove negative status conditions during combat, and tackle Story Mode challenges that unlock additional recipes in Free Play.

PART 2: ALEFGARD ADVENTURE

Story Mode is divided into four chapters: Cantlin, Rimuldar, Kol/Galenholm, and Tantegel, which are the four regions of Alefgard you, as the hero, are tasked to free from the Dragonlord. Each region is composed of four islands, which almost always require teleports to reach.

Our coverage of each chapter begins with a preview of five challenges (we provide detailed explanations and rewards at the end of each chapter), base camp score requirements, and all available recipes. We also give you an overview of what items you can obtain from enemies. An overall world map reveals the positions of each island in every region.

For the individual regional islands, we provide maps that mark out quest destinations, plus the locations of treasure chests and other bonus items, such as blueprints that teach you how to build new rooms. You also get a detailed breakdown of building and raw materials available on each island and how to acquire them, plus a summary of the enemies wandering nearby.

PART 3: FREE PLAY

We kick off coverage of the six islands of Free Play with an overview of how this mode differs from Story Mode, how recipes learned in Story Mode become available in Free Play, plus a breakdown of where to find raw materials.

Maps for each island include a listing of randomly placed treasure chests and their contents, as well as notable locations such as puzzles to solve and wandering enemies.

In addition, our Terra Gladiatoria section covers the encounters initiated when you use battle tickets. Here you'll find advance tips on what types of enemies spawn, how many of each appear, and what items they drop.

PART 4: APPENDICES

Having trouble finding a certain material? Need ideas for the best ways to level up your base? Check out our appendices to get the most out of your gaming experience. We provide master lists of raw materials, crafted items, equipment, building blocks, and other materials; plus coverage of special buildable rooms and every enemy you'll encounter throughout your adventure. We've even got a fishing appendix for you, which includes maps revealing what all you might catch in Story Mode and Free Play—not only fish and items, but monsters too. They're eager to interrupt your efforts!

Go now, hero, and rid the realm of the Dragonlord once and for all!

BUILDER BASICS

NAVIGATING ALEFGARD

During the opening of the game, Rubiss provides basic knowledge about playing the game, from moving your character to building your first items, to using the environment to overcome obstacles. If you need any reminders, the informative windows (the ones that pop up when new topics are presented) are available for viewing at any time through the Main menu, Misc. sub-menu, under How to Play.

MOVING AND LOOKING AROUND

The Left stick controls movement, and the Right stick controls your view of the surrounding area. If you hold the Left stick up (to move your character forward), moving the Right stick allows you to change directions while keeping the camera oriented behind your character's head.

Eye in the Sky

Press Option or Start to get an overhead view of the immediate area. Use either the Left or Right stick to look around and scout the nearby area. Any icons active on your compass will also appear during this overhead view.

THE COMPASS

The compass serves two purposes. First, the icons that appear in the compass in the corner of the screen act as a navigational aid. Second, the compass tracks the passage of time.

COMPASS ICONS

ICON	DESCRIPTION
	The white flag always leads back to the Banner of Hope.
	A Q guides you to a quest objective.
	Blue, green, and red diamond shapes direct you to the naviglobe of that color.
	A white face indicates the location of a character in need of assistance.
	The star appears when you complete a chapter in Story Mode and you're ready to move on to the next.

PASSING TIME

The moving white line on the compass indicates the time of day. The compass is divided into daytime (light blue), dusk (orange), and night (dark blue). You know dusk has arrived, and night is close, when shadows stretch on the ground.

Green Things Growing

When time becomes active in the game, it allows growth for trees and crops, but only inside the confines of your base. There's more information under the Farming section later in this chapter.

ENEMY ACTIVITY AT NIGHT

Nightfall changes how many enemies are active. Some enemies sleep through the night, but others appear only at night. In particular, ghosts of many types harass you every time the sun sets. They throw fireballs and can teleport, but always vanish when the sun rises. You can avoid them completely by sleeping in a bed before the sun sets. For more information about enemies, check out Appendix VI.

THE HUNGER METER

Hunger becomes a factor as time passes. The hunger meter appears as five loaves of bread. Each loaf represents 20% of the meter. When the loaves all flash red, you begin taking damage until you eat again.

Eating food items restores the meter. Read the descriptions of each food item (they're included in Appendix III) to see how much of the meter they restore, and if they provide any additional benefits.

COMBAT

Combat in Dragon Quest is straightforward. Press the Attack button to swing your equipped weapon. With no weapon equipped, your attack is a punch. The attack from most weapons is a side-to-side sweep, which increases your chance of damaging multiple enemies. Weapons that are also tools (axes and hammers) deliver a top-down overhead strike. Press L1 to aim upward. Press R1 to aim downward. You can change these buttons in the Settings sub-menu.

To equip or remove a weapon, go to the Equipment sub-menu. If you equip multiple weapons, cycle through them by pressing up and down on the D-pad. Pure weapons are generally better for fighting, although you should opt for whatever weapon has the highest attack power. Tools are much better for tearing down buildings or collecting blocks from the environment.

STATUS CONDITIONS

There are two types of status conditions: negative and positive. Negative status conditions are inflicted on you primarily by enemies and detract from your ability to function. Positive status conditions are beneficial and come from eating certain food items.

ICON	NEGATIVE STATUS	DESCRIPTION	CURES
	Poisoned	Take damage over time.	Use antidotal herb. Wait 30 seconds.
	Paralysis	Unable to move or act.	Use Tingle tablet. Wait 10 seconds (tingleweed) or 30 seconds (monster attack).
	Sleep	Unable to move or act.	Wait 15 seconds. Take damage from an attack.
	Confuse	Command inputs for movement are reversed.	Wait 10 seconds. Use Defuddle drops.
	Slow	Movement speed is decreased.	Wait 20 seconds.
	No Items	Unable to use items.	Wait 15 seconds (Dragonlord's double) or 30 seconds (Dragonlord).
	Cursed	Unable to change equipment.	Use Sheen salts.

ICON	POSITIVE STATUS	DESCRIPTION	HOW ACQUIRED
	Attack Power Up	Increased attack power for 180 seconds.	Eat beany bunny burger, bony steak, bunicorn steak, bunny burger, fresh fish feast, or searing steak.
	Defense Up	Increased defense for 180 seconds.	Eat bouillabaisse, cream of marshroom soup, hell broth, sailor's stew, or sautéed salmon.

SPINNING SLICES

Spinning slices are a special attack learned in the first chapter of Story Mode. After you learn spinning slices, press and hold the Attack button to begin charging the technique. To unleash a spinning attack, release the Attack button anytime after the color of the surrounding energy changes. This attack is the same regardless of the selected weapon, and you can switch weapons while charging the attack.

Clearing out a wide area of blocks becomes much quicker after you learn spinning slices. Charge up spinning slices with a hammer or axe equipped, then watch the blocks fly free.

PROJECTILES

A handful of items you can build are thrown when selected in your inventory and used. You can't aim these projectiles. When used, they're thrown directly ahead. Throwing projectiles accurately takes some practice, so don't become discouraged when you first start using them.

TAKING DAMAGE

The most common way of taking damage is from enemy attacks. You also must be careful when moving close to enemies to perform an attack of your own. Touching an enemy, even from behind, will often result in damage.

You also suffer damage from falling from heights of at least five blocks. The amount of damage sustained increases with distance fallen.

Finally, touching hazardous material does damage for as long as you remain in contact with it. Every few seconds, being in poisoned water does a single point of damage, while lava inflicts five points of damage. If you fall in, get out quickly!

Losing All Your HP

When you lose all of your HP, half of the items in your inventory are left at the spot where the final bit of damage took place (you can recollect everything that was lost). You reappear at the chapter's Banner of Hope. Selecting the Return to Base option from the Main menu (if you become stuck somewhere and lack a chimaera wing) results in the same penalty.

BUILDING

Building is the primary activity in Dragon Quest Builders. You spend the majority of the game either gathering materials or building with the materials you gather. There are two types of building. The first type requires raw materials and a crafting station. The second type, placing blocks to create rooms, is covered later in this chapter under the section Building Your Base.

GATHERING RAW MATERIALS AND BLOCKS

The enemies you defeat in battle sometimes drop raw material. Most enemies have two possible items they drop, so you may need to hunt down a few of a certain enemy before you get the desired item. Fishing is the final source of raw materials.

To gather blocks, attack them to knock them loose from surrounding blocks. Trees and veins turn into harvestable items when destroyed. Plants are the same, but can also be pulled up intact with a shovel. Not all items are created equal. More powerful weapons are required to break down increasingly stronger material. In the case of blocks, some weapons will destroy a block, but more powerful weapons are required to keep the same block intact.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

The following table lists weapons by strength. If you encounter something that you can't break with your current weapon, switch to a weapon from a higher strength level. Strength level applies only to blocks, not how much damage a weapon inflicts on enemies.

STRENGTH	WEAPONS
1	Fists, cypress stick, oaken club
2	Stone sword, copper sword, falcon blade, giant mallet, stone axe
3	Iron broadsword, iron axe, sledgehammer
4	Steel broadsword, aurora blade, fire blade, war hammer, battleaxe
5	Sword of Kings, sword of ruin, Erdrick's sword, Hela's hammer
6	Hammer of the Builder

BUILDING ITEMS

Items cover everything you can build at a crafting station, including building blocks, food, equipment, and much more. Item building requires materials, a crafting station, and a recipe.

MATERIALS

This category includes both raw materials that you gather and the materials (an item classification) you create from raw materials. Crafting a key illustrates how the process works. A key has two components: one is a raw material (rusty nuggets) that is dropped by enemies; the second is a material (liquid silver) that is created by combining two other raw materials (silver and slippery goo).

CRAFTING STATIONS

Crafting stations are special objects that allow you to create certain items, including other crafting stations. Interact with a crafting station (or select Recipes from the Main menu) to see what it allows to be built. You start every chapter in Story Mode with at least one crafting station already in place.

RECIPES

Before you can make an item, you need to know what is required to make it. Some recipes are known when you start a chapter in Story

Mode. Others are learned when you accept a quest. You pick up additional recipes when you gather materials or build items. Whenever possible, build what appears as NEW to see if it inspires learning additional recipes.

An "Additional Recipe" list appears at the start of each chapter of Story Mode. Use it as a checklist to ensure you learn everything possible during each chapter.

EQUIPMENT

Equipment is a special class of item that covers everything you wear or wield. Equipment is what protects you from enemy attacks and abilities, and what you use to attack. Another trait that sets equipment apart from other items is that equipment items degrade with use.

Weapons, armour, and shields degrade as they either inflict or absorb damage. Equipment has a health meter that appears when viewed in the Equipment tab. Watch for red icons under your HP bar. These icons indicate that your current equipment is about to break. There's room in your inventory to carry spares. Never leave the base unprepared!

BUILDING YOUR BASE

Your base is the center of activity in each chapter of Story Mode. Your base for Free Play is the starting island, Terra Incognita. Raising your base's level is a milestone in every Story Mode chapter. Getting your base to max level is a challenge for every chapter. Check the Main menu screen to see your base's level and the score required to reach the next level.

The center of your base is the Banner of Hope. Walk away from the Banner of Hope until you hear a chime. The chime indicates you have crossed a boundary of the base. Keep the rooms you build inside the boundary of your base. You also learn how to build fortifications (spiked floors, cannons, etc.) that can be built outside the boundary of your base since they don't count toward your base's score.

Placing Blocks Quickly

Hold down the Square button and move in a direction to stack blocks two high in a straight line. Hold R1 and Square to place a line of blocks above your head (they must be anchored to another block). Hold L1 and Square to place a line of blocks below your feet. Hold L1, R1, and Square together to place a single row of blocks.

RESIDENTS

Residents appear first at the Banner of Hope. When residents join your base, they offer quests, rewards, and blueprints that teach you how to build rooms. They also assist in the base's defense. In Chapter 3 and Terra Incognita, you can recruit residents to join your party and travel outside the base with you. Residents are always available for conversation. When icons appear over their heads, it means they have a story-related event for you to undertake.

ICON	MEANING
	These characters are new to the base and must be greeted before they'll join.
	There is a quest for you to undertake. Sometimes multiple characters will offer quests at the same time.
	You have a quest for this character but haven't completed it yet. Talk to the character for additional information if you're stuck.
	You have met all the requirements for this character's quest. It's time to claim your reward.
	Use the proper item from your inventory on this character.
	Talking to the character initiates a base defense battle.
	Talking to the character initiates the battle against the chapter's main boss.

Blueprints

When you obtain the blueprints for a room, you must first place the blueprint on the ground and then match its requirements exactly, in order for it to be completed.

The ground must be clear of everything before you can place a blueprint, even if what's already in place matches the blueprint's requirements. This can be frustrating if you already have a wall in place or want your new room to share a wall with an existing room. You don't need to demolish an entire wall to place the blueprint, just the lowest level where the wall blocks rest on the ground. Once the blueprint has been placed, rebuild the line of blocks and continue with the blueprint's remaining requirements.

BUILDING ROOMS

While you can use blocks to create bridges over rivers, or steps to ascend to the tops of mountains, the primary use for blocks is building rooms. Rooms can be built anywhere, but if they're outside your base, their only value is providing a place to sleep. Rooms built inside the boundary of your base provide a great deal more.

First, rooms add points to your base's score, which is the only way to increase its level. Second, some rooms boost the attributes and equipment of the residents. Finally, certain rooms inspire the residents of your base to create items and leave them inside a chest for you.

An Empty Room

An empty room is the most basic room. A room is complete when it has walls two blocks high, a door, and a source of light. The smallest wall dimensions a room can have are 4x4 blocks, which is just enough space to allow a door to close after you enter the room. The score earned from completing an empty room inside your base comes from the value of the door, the light source, and the blocks used to form the walls and floors.

By meeting certain requirements, an empty room becomes an improved room. A complete list of rooms, and the requirements for each, is included in Appendix V. In general, building baths and changing rooms improves the equipment used by the base's residents. Bedrooms increase maximum HP, while gardens and many special rooms increase automatic HP recovery rates. With kitchens and other rooms available, residents create food and items for you to use.

STORAGE INSIDE YOUR BASE

Your inventory is limited to 15 spaces, but you can build chests that allow you to store additional items. You must be at a chest to move items into or out of it; however, items inside chests within the boundary of your base are available when you're building at crafting stations. There is also a limitation on how many chests can be placed; keep that in mind before spending the resources on crafting too many.

The ultimate storage solutions are the colossal coffer (in Story Mode) and the colossal closet (in Free Play). They have multiple tabs that offer greater storage than a chest. When the coffer or closet is set up inside your base, you can access it from anywhere in the world. If your inventory is full, items collected automatically transfer to the coffer or closet.

ADDITIONAL ACTIVITIES

COMPLETING CHALLENGES

Each chapter of Story Mode includes five challenges that unlock additional recipes and items for Free Play. Three of the five challenges are unique to each chapter. The first two challenges are the same: complete the chapter within a given number of in-game days, and improve your base to maximum level.

COMPLETING CHAPTERS QUICKLY

This challenge requires familiarity with each chapter, because there's no time to waste hunting for materials or enemies. That means you should act like this challenge doesn't exist the first time you play a chapter. Focus on completing the remaining challenges so they won't become a distraction for your speed run.

First, do everything possible to cut down the amount of time you need to travel. Carry crafting stations, or keep them in a colossal coffer so you can pull them out wherever they're needed. Use chimaera wings instead of running back to your base. Gather the materials you'll need in the future when you're out completing other quests.

Second, save often. Use the Status sub-menu to check how many days have elapsed. If a task took too long to complete (for example, you lose all your health far from the base, or monsters are being stingy with an item you need), reload and try again.

Finally, ignore everything that isn't essential to advancing the story. Rooms that provide bonuses are great, but your only concern is building a base that reaches lv. 4. Placing a tea service in a bedroom, for example, is worth more points than upgrading a barbecue kitchen to a barbecue bistro, and takes far less time.

CREATING A MAX-LEVEL BASE

The easiest way to boost your score is to always upgrade your walls and floors from earth to blocks that have value. Stone, wood, brick, and even straw provide points, while earth does not. If you already built with earth, use cladding and flooring to change the earth into something more valuable.

Refer to Appendix V often. Build what decorations you can, and gather interesting objects while you're exploring and questing. The items you find don't belong to anyone else, so you should put them to use in your base. The materials you find in this way are often things you can't build and allow you to construct rooms that are otherwise unavailable in the current chapter.

FARMING

Farming is introduced during Chapter 2: Rimuldar and returns for Free Play on Terra Incognita. There are three requirements for farming: crops, a transmutation table, and a rake. Farming can only be done inside your base.

Tree Farming

When wood resources are scarce, you should become a tree farmer. After harvesting a tree, attack the stump to acquire a seedling. Take the seedling to your base and place it anywhere. Seedlings turn into saplings after one night, and full-grown trees after two nights. Harvest and replant the seedling to begin the process again.

Use a rake on earth blocks to prepare them for planting. For heartfruit, the earth blocks must be underwater. Next, take one of the six plants you can grow (butterbeans, heartfruit, holyhock, potato, sugar cane, or wheat) to a transmutation table to create seeds and sprouts. Plant the seeds and sprouts in the prepared earth blocks. Attacking sprouts destroys them, except for holyhock sprouts. If you hit freshly planted holyhock, your seed is returned to you.

What you must do next depends on whether you're in Rimuldar or Terra Incognita. In Rimuldar, the plants grow for two days. The first day after planting, you can harvest a single item. For the second day and beyond, harvesting the plant yields five items. In Terra Incognita, time doesn't factor into farming. Instead, stand in the middle of the planted crops and use faerie fertiliser. The plants touched by fertiliser mature instantly.

FISHING

Fishing is introduced in Chapter 2: Rimuldar. Fishing requires a fishing rod (an item with a different recipe in almost every chapter) and enough water to cast a line into.

Watch your line where it touches the water. It periodically bobs, but as soon as you see a small splash, press the Use X button to reel in whatever is on the line. Sometimes you catch an item, such as fish, and other times you reel in a monster that attacks you. Turn to Appendix VII to learn what you can catch, and where you can catch it.

CHARACTERS

CANTLIN

PIPPA

Pippa joins the base immediately after you place the Banner of Hope. She offers a number of quests but avoids battle.

ROLLO

You rescue Rollo from under a pile of earth blocks after Pippa directs you to his location. Rollo spends most of his time reading from an ancient text, but puts it down when the base needs defending.

LAROUCHE

Larouche appears at the base once you acquire the blue teleportal. Larouche doesn't engage in combat, but does provide quests that improve the base.

KENELM

Travel through the blue teleportal, defend Kenelm from skeletons, and he gratefully follows you to the base. He becomes a vigilant defender of the base and teaches you a special combat technique.

SHERIDON

Sheridon arrives at the base after you place the red teleportal. While he does not participate in battles, he shares the secret of building wrecking balls, which are the key to defeating a powerful enemy.

MAGNUS

A renowned blacksmith, Magnus has been locked up by evil forces. Once set free, he eagerly engages in battle at your base and shares his knowledge.

CHERIE

Cherie pops up at the Banner of Hope after you earn the green teleportal. She isn't a fighter, but she does pitch in by creating items in the workshop.

SPLATRICK

Splatrick is not an automatic recruit to your base. To recruit him, travel through the green teleportal and protect him from a group of different slimes. He doesn't attack humans, but he also doesn't attack other monsters.

RIMULDAR

ELLE

Elle is your first recruit in Rimuldar and is determined to heal both the land and its people. Despite being a healer, she does her best to drive away monsters when they appear, by throwing rocks from a safe distance.

GERONTIUS

The learned Gerontius becomes a valuable asset after you recruit him to your cause. He is a scholar, but has no problem getting dirty while battling monsters. His anguish is tied to the secrets he keeps.

NOSH

Nosh is the first of many diseased people you must carry back to your base. When he's healthy again, Nosh becomes the driving force behind you learning about fishing.

CASEY

Casey must be rescued from the island beyond the blue teleportal. Casey's illness requires two treatments, but she protects the base as soon she's out of the sickroom.

EDSEL

Edsel appears at the Banner of Hope after you acquire the blue teleportal. Carry him to the sickroom, where you must work with Elle to restore his health.

KEAN

Kean arrives at the Banner of Hope alongside Edsel, and collapses next to his fellow new arrival. The ill duo languish in pain despite Elle's best efforts.

IRVYN

Irvyn has collapsed just short of the blue teleportal. You must carry him to the sickroom and feed him a fried frogstool. He lingers in the sickroom for most of this chapter.

JACOB

Jacob is your final rescue beyond the blue teleportal. After you carry him to the base and restore his health, he assists in the defense of the base.

MILDRED

Carry the weakened Mildred from her damaged home beyond the red teleportal back to the base. Curing her illness calls for a number of meals served over three days. When her strength returns, she patrols and defends the base.

HAZEL

Hazel's rescue involves a trip through the red teleportal and vanquishing a group of treefaces. Feed her four meals to restore her health. She isn't a fighter, but she builds items when you create the proper rooms.

KOL AND GALENHOLM

GLUTIMUS

Glutimus appears at the base when you plant the Banner of Hope. His bark is much worse than his bite; he rarely joins the battle when the base is under attack. You have better luck recruiting him for missions outside the base.

MAXI

Maxi is the final male bodybuilder recruit for the base. You must first free him from behind a locked door, then he and Burley become powerful allies in the battles in Kol and Galenholm.

BAIRD

Baird appears at the Banner of Hope when you win the red teleportal from the attacking monsters. Baird doesn't engage in any fighting, and misunderstands his relationship with Cecille.

BURLEY

Burley is a kind-of-but-not-really vegetarian you must rescue from a desert cave on the chapter's starting island. Burley is a fearless fighter who defends the base and joins expeditions outside the base with equal zeal.

BARBELLA

You learn quite a bit about Barbella from Glutimus before you rescue her from a cell beyond the red teleportal. The leader of the bodybuilders is also an accomplished engineer. Her creations are the keys to defeating the hot and cold fiends threatening Kol and Galenholm.

CECILLE

After you rescue Cecille from a trio of killing machines beyond the red teleportal at Baird's behest, she quietly settles in at the base. She pops up again when odd singing disturbs her sleep.

TANTEGEL

MYRLUND

Myrlund is your first contact in Tantegel, and he helps you before you have a base or Banner of Hope. He acts as a guide and advisor, but does not participate in battles.

LAUNCE

Launce appears at Tantegel Castle after you recover the Banner of Hope. He's fiercely loyal to the royal family and guards the castle from every attack.

ROLLO

A familiar face from Cantlin, Rollo is one of the three sages sent by Rubiss. He's trapped under blocks again, but this time you need a wrecking ball to set him free.

BARBELLA

The leader of the bodybuilders from Kol and Galenholm, Barbella is a sage sent by Rubiss. She brings her knowledge and items that are helpful during the assault on the Dragonlord. She also helps defend the castle when monsters attack.

THE PRINCESS

The Princess first appears as a statue. She's restored to her true self when holy water is splashed on her. She follows you to Tantegel Castle after you recover the Banner of Hope. Despite her privilege, her primary concern is doing what's right for the people of Tantegel.

TRYSTIAN

Trystian pops up at Tantegel Castle after you improve it to lv. 2. He joins Launce in protecting the castle from monsters. Like Launce, he's loyal to the Princess and looks out for her well-being.

ELLE

A host of negative-status-inflicting enemies interrupted Elle's trip from Rimuldar. Once she safely arrives at Tantegel Castle, Elle resumes her ranged attacks on attacking monsters.

ANDROOO

Androoo is the second monster (don't be fooled by his looks!) you could potentially recruit to your base. Androoo has been shunned by other monsters because he doesn't hate humans. Androo works so hard at passing for human that he's willing to attack other monsters when they attack the castle.

ESTABLISHING A BASE

Place the Banner of Hope at the center of the base. Speak with the newcomer, Pippa, to open Banner of Hope as a save point. The red ! over Pippa's head indicates she has a quest.

After speaking with her, Pippa gives you earth block (x5). Fix the house with the wooden door by placing blocks in the appropriate locations. Talk to Pippa after that to receive white petal (x3).

Next, the room needs a light. Pippa offers blue goo and a broken branch to help. Go to the mason's workstation and build torches. Set one of the torches inside the recently repaired building to turn it into an empty room. Speak with Pippa again to receive a seed of life.

Before Time Kicks In

Consider exploring the environment and gathering goods now. Time starts flowing after completing Pippa's request to build a basic bedroom. Whatever you do now won't be interrupted by nighttime or hunger.

A TIME AND PLACE FOR EVERYTHING

Her next request is for two straw mattresses, which are built from grassy leaves. If you haven't collected any grassy leaves yet, attack clumps of nearby grass until you have six. Build two straw mattresses at the mason's workstation, then place them in the empty building you completed earlier, which creates a basic bedroom. Pippa hands over broken branch (x2), and the concept of time is introduced.

TRIPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Pippa mentions hunger and asks for plumberries from below the trees near the base. Hit the plumberries on the ground until you gather five. Hand them over to Pippa, who returns plumberry (x3) as a reward.

The hunger meter is introduced. Over time, the meter, which appears as five loaves of bread, empties. When the meter is empty, it flashes red and you take damage. Eating food items restores the meter. Read the descriptions of each food item to see how much meter they restore, and if it provides any additional benefits.

Pippa asks for a place to store items. Rubiss inspires learning the recipe for a chest. Return to the mason's workstation and build a chest from three broken branches. Pippa hands over broken branch (x2) afterward.

FIRST BLUEPRINT

Pippa has a drawing that shows how to build her ideal room. Find a suitable location inside the base and place the blueprints on the ground. Stand on the blueprint and press the indicated button to display the required materials for building the new room (the information is also available through the Main menu, under building recipes/blueprints).

Blue columns of light surround building materials when properly placed. When everything is in place, the building becomes a stonemason's workshop. Note the blue text on the bottom of the recipe that appears. Check the chests inside your buildings often to see what the residents create for your use. Speak with Pippa to get a coarse cloth.

Improving on the Basics

Continue to add decorations and functional pieces to rooms to improve their score and value to you. Check out the Rooms Appendix of this guide to see what you can build and the benefits you gain from improved rooms.

A SECOND RESIDENT

Pippa mentions seeing another person and marks the location with a Q on the compass. The first location is an abandoned campsite, but a new location is marked on the map.

At the new location, break down the earth blocks to reveal Rollo. Speak with him, then guide him to your base. The purple area over the mountains is the only location for gold (which must wait until you have a giant mallet) and trevil enemies in Chapter 1. Back at the base, Pippa rewards your effort with a seed of life.

Rollo wants you to make a new item, chimaera wings, which return you quickly to your base. Defeat enough chimaeras to get at least five chimaera feathers. Build three wings and speak with Rollo to receive broken branch (x4).

MORE BUILDINGS FOR YOUR BASE

Pippa's hunger prompts you to learn how to build a cookfire. She also wants a kitchen. Unlike her previous help with blueprints, this time she expects you to work out what such a room needs.

First, build an empty room with a cookfire for its light source. Add a chest to create a crude kitchen, which satisfies Pippa's requirements. Speak with her again to receive plumberry (x2).

Impressed with the kitchen, Rollo wants a dish of his own. Collect enough marshrooms to cook three shrooms-on-a-stick, then present them to Rollo. He appreciates your efforts so much, he only eats two and hands back a shroom-on-a-stick as a reward.

IMPROVE YOUR BASE TO LV. 2

Continue speaking with Rollo, who wants to improve the base to lv. 2. He mentions adding decorations to the rooms, which inspires you to learn the recipe for pots. To increase the base's level, add decorations (such as pots) and improved light sources to existing rooms or enclose additional rooms inside your base.

Head out into the woods and defeat blue slimes until you gather enough blue goo to build a few pots and bonfires. Place the pots and bonfires into rooms until your base reaches lv. 2. Rollo rewards your efforts with a seed of life.

Bonus: Seed of Life

Go south from the base and search the mountainside for a narrow opening. Follow the tunnel until it dead ends at a treasure chest. Defeat the two drackies that appear to unlock the chest, which contains a seed of life.

Bonus: Seed of Life

Go west from the base, then slightly south. Ascend the narrow spire built with pebblestone and earth to reach the treasure chest. The chest holds a seed of life.

YOUR FIRST BATTLE

Rollo describes the dangers in the area. Agree to fight and a group of skeletons swarms the base. While tackling the initial wave of four skeletons, a more powerful skeleton appears and joins the battle.

Turning back the attackers awards you blue tablet fragments. However, the base's location is now known to the hostile forces of the land, which attack at random intervals. It also draws in new residents, in this case, Larouche. Find a place to sleep to recover from the attack and get a glimpse of the past.

EXPLORING A NEW ISLAND

Speak with Rollo after recreating the blue teleportal to receive coarse cloth. Create an empty room and place the teleportal inside to construct a teleportarium. This isn't strictly necessary, but doing so increases your base's score. Before using the teleportal, check in with Rollo.

After traveling through the blue teleportal, open the nearby treasure chest to obtain a blue naviglobe. Set the naviglobe anywhere and its location appears on your overhead view and compass. Until you're familiar with the island's geography, keep the naviglobes you find with the teleportals so you know the direction to get back home.

Bonus: Seed of Life

Go west from the blue teleportal and carefully descend to the bottom of the deep depression. Take a hint from the happy hammerhood and build steps up to the treasure chest. Inside the chest is a seed of life.

Your first destination is a bored hammerhood warming itself at a fire a short distance west of the teleportal. A quick conversation nets a signpost and directions to Clobberina, whose earthy home has a brazier burning on its roof. While traveling to Clobberina's home, collect any new items in the area, such as ivy and butterbeans.

Bonus: World Map

From the friendly hammerhood warming himself at the fire, go north to the edge of the cliffs. Descend to a squarish grassy landing. At the back of the cave is a treasure chest with a world map inside.

EARN THE GIANT MALLET

Speak with Clobberina, who agrees to share the secret of giant mallets if you repair her roof. Use the chest inside the home to store any excess items while you gather ivy and grass.

Take your items up to the roof, where Clobberina has set up a mason's workstation. Make cord from ivy, then straw floor blocks from the cord and grass. Fill in the three holes, then speak with Clobberina to learn how to make a giant mallet.

Collecting Materials and Recipes

The giant mallet allows you to break down more objects in the environment. Smash stones to get stone, copper veins to get copper, and coal veins to get coal. You'll be flooded with new recipes in a short time.

Bonus: Blueprint Greasy Mallet

Continue west from Clobberina's home to a tall formation topped by a stone well. Clear out enough earth at ground level to get inside. The signpost declares the room to be the Hammerhood Heights Treasury. The treasure chest has the Greasy Mallet blueprint, which creates a cookfire café when completed.

Bonus: Recipe Ladder

Three hammerhoods, claiming to be the Hammerhood Heights neighbourhood watch, huddle near each other inside an ivy-covered home. Speak with the trio to learn how to build a ladder.

After exploring the island (don't go too far, you're coming back soon), return to the base and get chimaera wing (x2) from Rollo. His next task is a gift to you: building a colossal coffer. If you need wood, whack nearby trees with a giant mallet, then take the lumber to the mason's workstation.

When it's placed inside your base, a colossal coffer can be accessed anywhere through the Item option in the Main menu. Any items collected while your inventory is full are automatically sent to the colossal coffer. While the colossal coffer is reward enough on its own, Rollo adds blue goo (x5) for good measure.

RESCUE KENELM AND DEFEND THE BASE

Larouche reveals the location of another person and marks it on your compass. Travel through the blue teleportal. Your destination is a man named Kenelm, who is at the end of a peninsula. He's safe for now, so take some time to explore and hunt for new raw materials.

After you find Kenelm, your conversation is cut short by the appearance of two skeletons. After defeating the undead creatures, speak with Kenelm to have him follow you, then step out from under his shelter and use a chimaera wing to return to the base. Welcome Kenelm to your base, then get a seed of life from Larouche.

By this time, you should be able to upgrade your equipment to copper items. The timing couldn't be better. The base is about to come under attack. When you're ready, check in with Rollo.

The fight begins with four brownies appearing in two groups, who are then supported by two chimaeras. The leader of the attack is a large brownie, who drops a seed of life when defeated.

PIPPA'S NEW ROOMS

At the conclusion of the battle, three new quests pop up. Speak with Pippa first, who wants a room to herself. Set up an empty room, then add a single bed, a pot, and a lady sign. Whether you assign the room to her or not, you get the same reward from Pippa: chimaera wing (x2).

Pippa's next request is the construction of a dressing room. Follow her suggestion and add two stone stools (or any two chairs) and an armoire to an empty room. Everyone changes clothes and you get fried egg (x3).

MORE TIME IN HAMMERHOOD HEIGHTS

Get quests from both Kenelm and Rollo before stepping through the blue teleportal. You can complete Kenelm's quest, which is learning a special technique from defeating an iron scorpion and three chimaeras, on the way to the castle Rollo sends you to investigate.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

You must return to your base to learn the technique (and collect healing cream (x5) from Kenelm), but you won't need it while visiting the castle. Don't rush to the castle immediately. There are a few bonus items for you to scout out. You can't get them all yet, but you should investigate them while you're nearby.

Bonus: Blueprint Hammerton Hothouse

Two garden-loving hammerhoods stand outside their respective gardens. Your task is to make identical gardens, a task that requires a shovel. After you add a shovel to your equipment, return to this location with three milkblossom plants or buds, a corallily plant or bud, a prickly peach cactus, three cactus trunks, two cactus crowns, sandwort, and a medicinal shrub. Talk to one hammerhood to get a bench. Speak to the other hammerhood to get the Hammerton hothouse blueprint.

Bonus: Talaria

North of the hammerhood gardeners is a cave mouth that leads into the mountains. Read the note on the straw flooring but don't disturb anything else.

Return to this location after you learn how to create a gravestone. Place an earth block over the bones, then add the gravestone atop it. Speak with the spirit to get the talaria.

Speak with the man standing atop a broken stone wall outside the castle. He provides the material you need to repair the blockade. When it's complete, move behind it and let the brownies damage themselves on the spikes. Talk to the man on the wall a second time to learn more about the structure behind you and the green-garbed figure inside, Ranulph.

Before you go into the castle, dismantle the blockade (blocks and spikes both) since you'll need the parts soon. The castle itself is loaded with decorative items. Take everything from the doors, to the bed, to the banners hanging on the walls.

After speaking with Ranulph, follow him to the roof. He's atop one of the towers. The chest near him has defensive design blueprints. Explore the battlements before returning to your base. The stone (x3) Rollo provides for returning with the blueprints isn't much of an incentive to hurry!

Bonus: Chimaera Wing

The chest on top of a tower near Ranulph contains a chimaera wing.

Rollo supplies a blueprint for the stone stockade, which unlocks recipes for stone wall, stone cladding, and spike traps. Build the stone stockade on the west side of the base. Use stone cladding to change any remaining earth walls to stone, then get your reward of fur (x3).

IMPROVE YOUR BASE TO LV. 3

Check in with Larouche, who wants you to update the workshop into a stonemason's studio. If you already upgraded it, Larouche accepts only a studio. You may need to remove some items to make it comply. When Larouche is satisfied, he provides wood (x3).

If the base is already at lv. 3, then Rollo's quest is completed while you're speaking with him. If not, put the spoils from the castle to use and build some new rooms. You should be able to build a few rooms that provide bonuses, such as items from the residents of the base.

Your reward for the base reaching lv. 3 is a seed of life, and another battle. If your western wall is set up properly, you can stand atop it and watch the skeletons and brownies tear themselves to shreds on the spikes while trying to breach the wall. After two phases of six enemies each, a knight errant joins the battle. When it falls, it leaves behind the red teleportal. You also earn a seed of life with the victory.

CRAFTY CRAFTERS IN THE DAMDARA DESERT

Pippa and Rollo have requests that aren't far from each other on the new island, so pick up both before stepping through the red teleportal to the scorpion sands of the Damdara desert. Set up the red naviglobe, then travel west and north. Attack bunicorns until you get at least one piece of meat, and mine any iron you see.

The first stop is a chef at an oasis. Pippa's request requires a brick barbecue, and the chef knows how to make them. Two iron scorpions interrupt your conversation. After defeating them, talk to the chef again.

Bonus: Seed of Life

While it's not in a chest, this still counts as a treasure! Jump up to the top of the sandstone archway. Read the note next to the bones to get a seed of life.

Bonus: Recipe Gravestone

There's a sandy bar just under the surface of the water that connects a small island to Damdara. Speak with the brownie near the gravestones to learn how to build them. Now you're ready to travel through the blue teleportal to complete two tasks there.

Pippa appears near a body of water. Speak with her to remove the illusion hiding a knight aberrant. The knight aberrant drops a key when it's defeated. Unlock the cell door, then free Magnus from his bonds.

Lead Magnus back to your base, or take a chimaera wing shortcut. Get a seed of life from Rollo and welcome Magnus to the base. Upgrade your equipment again but don't make more than one of anything.

Build a brick barbecue, then prepare a bunicorn steak. Put them together with bread made from wheat and coal to create a bunny burger. If you need wheat, look in the hills beyond the blue teleportal not far from the castle where you met Ranulph, and close to the green dragon beyond the red teleportal. Pippa trades fruit salad (x2) for the bunny burger.

SPITTING HOT FIRE

To continue the upgrades to the base, Rollo directs you to a pyramid in the Damdara desert. Go west from the red teleportal to reach the impressive structure. Remember the path you take to reach the central chamber. Ignore the worshippers around the chamber and don't stand in front of the idols, or you'll be singed.

Knock free both evil idols, then race back to the entrance. Don't stop to fight because your weapons are ineffective. Just get out!

When you get the note that you evaded their pursuit, you can explore the interior of the pyramid at your leisure. When you're done, show off your prizes to Rollo back at the base. He hands over chimaera wing (x4).

Bonus: Featherfall Footwear

Don't leave the pyramid until you get the featherfall footwear. Break through the earth wall in the hallway leading to the central chamber. Climb the ivy up to a landing that continues into a hallway. The treasure chest is at the end.

Bonus: Fireplace

This treasure chest contains a fireplace. It's down the hall beyond the ivy you climb to reach the featherfall footwear.

BUILDINGS IMPROVEMENTS

Rollo rallies the defense against another assault on the base. The initial phase is a knight errant and skeleton soldiers. The second phase consists of a pair of knights errant and a quartet of scorpions. The leader of the assault is a knight aberrant. When the final enemy falls, you earn a seed of life.

Magnus reveals the secret to building a furnace. After you build one, he imparts some historical knowledge and coal (x5). Create steel ingots as soon as possible. Doing so opens up a new batch of improved equipment.

Next up are Kenelm's armoury request and Larouche's watchtower. The armoury is an upgraded changing room. Add ornamental swords and ornamental armour to it, then collect your medicinal herb (x3).

forces an easy entrance point into your base. Completing the watchtower earns you iron ingot (x3).

The watchtower is a blueprint for you to follow. Where you build it isn't important, but don't set it up so the steps allow attacking

Rollo provides a blueprint that reveals his plans for the evil idols. Scavenge the parts from your previous fortification and keep them on the west wall. Save the evil idols for last. They don't stop breathing fire just because you brought them into your home.

IMPROVE YOUR BASE TO LV. 4

You should have plenty of decorations available to push the base to lv. 4. If it's not there yet, check your colossal coffer for items you may have missed picking up. Also check the chests in any buildings where residents leave you their creations. If you still have earth walls and floors, change them into blocks that boost your score. When the base reaches lv. 4, Rollo rewards your efforts with steel ingot (x3).

Rollo initiates another defense of the base. Fortunately, it's a small attack consisting of pairs of knights errant, scorpions, and iron scorpions. Their leader is a knight aberrant. Keep in mind that your defenses may harm you, so if you engage these enemies, don't do it between the evil idols. The appearance of a green teleportal heralds a victorious encounter.

CANTLIN: ROCKBOMB RAVINE

*: My name is Cherie. I don't have any particular talents, but I'm a dab hand at being a woman of the world...

Greet the newcomer, Cherie, when she appears at the base. Talk with Sheridan to learn how to make a wrecking ball. One of the components is found only in Rockbomb Ravine.

IT'S THE BOMB

Go through the green teleportal and set the green naviglobe. The rockbomb shards come from rockbombs enemies. They begin a countdown to self-destruct when they take some damage, so you must finish them off before they explode. The explosion is a powerful attack that ruins the environment and your HP. When they explode, rockbombs also don't leave behind any items.

Bonus: A Slime-y Detour

There's a forested area at the end of the ravine that's home to special slimes. First up, there's Splatrik, an oozeless slime whose beliefs have ostracized him from slimekind. Defend him from the other slimes that appear, then speak with him and he will follow you back to the base.

The second slime that's a bit different is the metal slime. When you spot a metal slime (probably just after it blasts you from a distance), try to corner it. They're notoriously difficult to defeat because they are masters of escape. This location is the only source of silvery sludge, a material needed to make a naughty night light. If you're struggling to boost your base to lv. 5, the naughty night light is a big help.

FINAL BATTLE PREPARATION

Show off the wrecking balls to get a seed of life. Consider saving this. A quick fix back to full health will be more valuable than five additional HP.

In case you've avoided medicinal bushes through the Cantlin adventure, Pippa directs your attention to them. Give her five medicinal herbs and she returns medicinal herb (x7).

Track down Rollo. He explains how to obtain parts for the Cantlin shield. Your first stop is Damdara. Track down the big stone golem and plant a wrecking ball at its feet. The golemite left behind is one of the components you need.

The second component is orichalcum. Return to Rockbomb Ravine and plant a wrecking ball on the veins containing exposed white crystals with a light green tint. Pick up additional rockbomb shards for the upcoming battle against the giant golem. When the shield is done, you get iron ingot (x5) from Rollo.

All that remains is a series of battles that culminates in the fight against the giant golem. Speak with Larouche to begin each battle. Check the counter in the lower-right corner of the screen to track your progress in each battle. Your reward for completing each of the battles is a seed of life. Save these for emergencies if possible.

The first battle has two phases. The initial phase is six skeletons followed by four chimaeras. The second phase begins with six brownies, continues with four chimaeras, and ends with a knight aberrant.

The second battle is a single phase. Knights aberrant open the action, followed by three pairs of skeleton scrappers. One pair each of scorpions and iron scorpions end this battle.

The final appetizer battle before the main event kicks off with two knights errant, followed by four pairs of skeleton soldiers. Phase two starts out the same, with two knights errant supported by two pairs of skeleton soldiers. A quartet of cosmic chimaeras pop up next, followed by the leader of the assault, a knight aberrant.

Take some time to rest, recover, and rebuild. When you speak with Rollo next, it's to start the battle versus the giant golem.

BOSS FIGHT: THE GIANT GOLEM

The giant golem appears outside the base and rolls an enormous boulder, which destroys anything in its path except for the Cantlin shield you created earlier, or any obsidian you mined while in Rockbomb Ravine. Though obsidian doesn't contribute to the countdown of blocks in the lower-right corner of the screen, it will defend your base against any stray boulders you miss.

You can anticipate the attacks by watching for the red glow that indicates the giant golem is powering up. Set the Cantlin shield between it and your base to successfully deflect its attack.

When you stop the number of attacks that appears in the countdown, the giant golem switches to a more direct attack. The giant golem spins toward your base in a straight line. Block it by placing the Cantlin shield again.

Stopping the spinning attack staggers the giant golem momentarily. If you get hit before the shield blocks the attack, the giant golem leaps back and resumes tossing boulders.

With the giant golem in a daze, place a wrecking ball on the outside of its feet in order to knock Cantin's oppressor to the ground. Place a second wrecking ball directly underneath it toward the knees to inflict damage and send the stone sentry sprawling in shards.

The giant golem then recovers and summons three large hammerhods to aid its attack. Rush out to meet them, but watch out for the giant golem leaping into the melee. Fortunately, this attack harms the hammerhods should they be caught under it.

When the hammerhods are defeated, the giant golem resumes boulder-tossing. Repeat the defense against three more boulders and another spinning frenzy until five large hammerhods are summoned alongside another volley of giant golem leaps.

Finally, with the last of the hammerhods dealt with, the giant golem goes into a desperate spin attack. Use the last two wrecking balls to topple and vanquish your foe, and set Cantlin free.

The giant golem drops a tarnished token. You quickly learn how to build an Ancient Emblem. Build the Ancient Emblem, collect medicinal herb (x10) from Rollo, and use the Ancient Emblem near the Banner of Hope. A new location pops up on the compass.

Save Before Departure

When you continue through the portal, you lose everything and cannot return to Cantlin. If you want to continue to explore Cantlin and complete challenges, save before you step into the portal.

CHALLENGES—CANTLIN

COMPLETE WITHIN 20 DAYS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build fire blades

RAISE BASE LEVEL TO 5

Terra Incognita Reward: can build stone furniture

DEFEAT THREE DRAGONS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build display stands

There are three dragons in Cantlin, one on each of the three initial islands. You can defeat them in any order.

Dragons use two attacks: fire breath and tail whip. Breathing fire is their default attack. They tail whip only when you're in melee range. Both attacks come with plenty of warning, but the dragons recover quickly.

Working in your favour is the dragons' unwillingness to move. They spin in place to track your movement and attack, but they do not move otherwise. This behavior makes it possible for you to place an evil idol near the dragon and let it do the damage while you focus on staying alive.

BUILD THE CANTLIN GARDEN

Terra Incognita Reward: can make guard's garb, villager's vesture, and trader's tunic

To create the Cantlin garden, you need to assemble the following inside a (rather large) empty room: bench, any flower (x10), any plant (x5), water block (x8), plumberry tree, brazier.

Simply building the Cantlin garden is enough to complete this challenge; even building it in Terra Incognita will work. To get the plumberry tree, plant a plumberry seedling (don't place anything over it!) and wait two nights for it to mature.

To increase your degree of difficulty (there are no bonus points; this would be for your personal satisfaction), try building the Cantlin garden within the confines of your base. You must dig a channel from a nearby source of water to your base and build the garden around it.

COMPLETE THE HAMMERHOOD'S GRAVE

Terra Incognita Reward: can build featherfall footwear

The hammerhood's grave is southwest of the blue teleportal arrival gate. To learn how to build the necessary memorials, go through the red teleportal. Travel north to a small island and talk to the brownie there. Return to Hammerhood, then build the required memorials and place them in the proper locations to unlock a treasure chest and get a seed of life.

PREPARING FOR WHAT'S TO COME

Since you begin with a giant mallet, you should harvest a few materials from the environment and local enemies. There aren't any handy raw food items available, so quickly gather the materials to build a cookfire. There are already bonfires in the base, so all you need are five broken branches and three strong stalks.

Same Recipes, New Methods

Some materials and crafting stations used in Rimuldar are not the same as what was available in Cantlin. Familiarize yourself with these slight differences as you gather raw materials.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Your first recruit, Elle, requests some healing cream. Go east of the base or build a bridge to the small island topped with green to gather white petals. Use the provided carpenter's workstation inside the base to create the healing cream. Present it to Elle to receive broken branch (x10).

Elle's subsequent request is for you to follow a set of blueprints and construct a sickroom. To get the necessary cotton and ivy, ascend the hills east of the base. Start with an empty room, add the two beds to get credit for building a fancy bedroom, and then add the remaining components for the sickroom. An overjoyed Elle rewards your efforts with broken branch (x10).

NEXT UP: NOSH

Elle marks the location of someone in need of assistance on your compass. Build a bridge with blocks to the nearby island, then construct another to reach the Q location. The weakened Nosh must be carried back to your base, which renders you defenseless unless you set him down.

You must drop off Nosh into a bed inside the sickroom before claiming your reward of strong stalks (x5) from Elle. Nosh's injuries require a medicinal herb.

Climb the green hills east of the base to gather enough medicinal leaves to make one for Nosh and a few for your inventory. Administer the medicinal herb to Nosh to heal him, although he needs a night of rest to recover fully. Your reward is the now-familiar broken branch (x10).

NEW RECRUIT, NEW ROOM

If you have time before night falls, pick up Elle's next quest. Place the base's carpenter's workstation into your inventory before you leave. If you wait until the next morning to depart, speak with Nosh at the Banner of Hope beforehand. He gratefully hands over a seed of life, and the extra health is welcome since your HP reset during the trip to Rimuldar.

Bonus: Chimaera Wing

Seek out a tall, narrow spire south of the base and across the poisoned water. A treasure chest that contains chimaera wing (x5) is tucked into one of the lower ledges.

The Q on your compass marks Gerontius, who mourns on top of a mountain. After you learn how to create a wooden memorial, drop the carpenter's workstation and build one. Add it to the row of memorials to convince Gerontius to join your party. You can either retrace your steps back home or use a chimaera wing for a quick trip. However you get him to the base, Elle rewards you white petals (x5).

Bonus: Chimaera Wing

Open the treasure chest behind Gerontius to procure chimaera wing (x3).

Speak with Gerontius, who joins the base. After you learn how to build an herbalist's cauldron, Gerontius provides blueprints for you to follow. The room becomes an herbalist's workshop. The reward for completing it is blue goo (x10). Check the chest inside this building regularly.

CASEY MUST BE CARRIED AND CURED

Nosh mentioned the location of another survivor to Elle, who asks you to find her. Follow the Q on your compass to reach Casey, who is lying outside a damaged home. Casey is poisoned and too weak to walk. Pick up Casey, hurry back to your base, and lay her in a bed in the sickroom.

Feed her butterbeans, then speak with Gerontius. Casey needs a night's sleep before she's ready for the next treatment, which is an item you learn about after Gerontius's quest. Gerontius asks for the heart of darkness and marks its location on your map.

Bonus: Yggdrasil Essence

Return to this locked building after you learn how to make keys. The treasure chest inside contains Yggdrasil essence.

BONUS ITEMS

Bonus: Seed of Life

Explore the caves scattered throughout the mountains. One features a treasure chest with a seed of life (the location is random).

The destination is a small island in a smaller lake south of the base, surrounded by more poisonous water, so be sure to come prepared with plenty of healing items. The island's lone inhabitant, a drohl drifter, guards the heart of darkness.

The drohl drifter's primary attack is a ranged volley of three poisonous blobs. The blobs inflict poison, which deals small amounts of damage over time until the effect fades. Fortunately, the attack begins with a significant charge-up time, providing you the opportunity to avoid it.

After the drohl drifter falls, it leaves behind the heart of darkness. Return to your base and trade the heart of darkness to Gerontius for medicinal herb (x5). As an added bonus, you also gain the ability to create antidotal herbs and the ring of immunity.

GET YOUR BASE TO LV. 2 AND DEFEND IT

If possible, use an antidotal herb on Casey. If Casey isn't ready yet, either sleep through the night or put the time to good use by speaking with Gerontius. Boost the base to lv. 2 and speak with Gerontius a second time to earn a seed of life.

After Casey is completely healed, get your chimaera wing (x5) from Elle and speak with Casey at the Banner of Hope for a seed of life. Speak to Elle again, then defend the base. The attackers are two trios of drohl drones, followed by a larger drohl drone. When the final enemy falls, you obtain the blue teleportal.

RIMULDAR: PRICKLY WILDS

After winning the battle, go to sleep to experience another memory. The Prickly Wilds have new dangers, including flowers that cause paralysis when touched. You must also watch your step since there are places where the ground crumbles from under your feet.

BASE EXPANSION

Edsel and Kean arrive at the base but must be taken to the sickroom after you speak with them. Place the blue teleportal, and get ready for requests from everyone at once. Talk to Casey, who wants a water room built. You must build a stool to complete the room, and the closest wood is through the blue teleportal. Before you go, get the quest from Nosh as well.

Gather wood on the way to the location marked for Nosh's quest. Carry the seedlings from the trees back to your base, and plant them for a renewable source of wood. A blue block known as a water crystal can be found in the northwest corner of the base and provides water when placed; use this to complete the water requirements for Casey's water room.

Colossal Coffe

Wood is the final component needed to build a colossal coffe. As soon as you collect enough wood, even if you haven't completed a quest, go back to your base and set up your colossal coffe. As a bonus, you pick up several new recipes after shaping your first piece of wood.

Nosh's quest leads to a bodkin village, where you meet an archer who loves fishing. Repair the walls of his fishing hut (the water side doesn't need to be rebuilt), then speak with him again to learn the secret of fishing rods. Continued conversation with the bodkin archer teaches you a bit more about fishing.

Bonus: Featherfall Footwear

Return to this locked building after you learn how to make keys. The treasure chest inside contains featherfall footwear.

Bonus: World Map

The treasure chest with the world map is located at the top of a narrow earthen tower. It's also hidden under earth blocks, so you may receive an "open" prompt before you see the chest.

Return to your base and complete the water room. Casey's reward is palm lumber (x5), and you also learn how to make a bucket. Despite his frustration, Nosh gives you medicinal herb (x3) after seeing a complete fishing rod.

PUSHING DEEPER INTO THE WILDS

Build a bucket and carry water to the sickroom. Give a scoop of water to Kean and an antidotal herb to Edsel, although they won't recover yet. Speak with Nosh and Gerontius to get their quests, and then return to the Prickly Wilds.

Bonus: Bench

Explore the caves scattered throughout the mountains. One cave contains a treasure chest with a bench (the location is random).

Tingleweed Troubles

The bright orange-and-yellow flowers that grow so densely on this island are tingleweeds. They inflict paralysis, which means that the best way of dealing with them is to clear them out with a weapon.

The killerpillar nest (which Gerontius marked on your compass) is located far to the south. Stop anywhere along the way where you find water to catch five sardines for Nosh. You know you've arrived at the nest when you encounter chanting bodkin archers.

Destroy the three tunnels from which the killerpillars emerge to force the king killerpillar to appear. He's an oversized killerpillar with no additional abilities, so your only concern is paralysis.

Back at the base, Nosh rewards your fishing skill with orange oil (x10). Gerontius does you one better by giving you a seed of life, then teaching you how to make a full moon ring and Tingle tablets.

Follow up with Nosh, who hands over a blueprint for a kitchen. Complete the blueprints to build your first cafeteria. Nosh's reward is orange oil (x10).

Bonus: Gold, Seed of Life, Throwing Stone

You may have noticed three wooden towers on the way to the killerpillar nest. Each tower has a paralyzed bodkin at the top. Now that you can make Tingle tablets, take at least three with you, and climb to the top of each tower. Remove the paralysis afflicting the bodkin archers, and reap the rewards.

The bodkin archer in the tower closest to the world map gives you a seed of life. The bodkin archer inside the tower covered in straw blocks gives you throwing stone (x50). Gold is the reward from the bodkin archer in the final tower.

ADDITIONAL RESCUES

Elle wants you to bring more people into the base. The first is Irvyn, who is next to the blue teleportal. You may have already saved him. Carry him to the sickroom and feed him a fried frogstool. He needs a night's rest, which he will get because you have one more person to rescue.

The target this time is Jacob, who is underground at the spot Elle marked on your compass. Walk on the weakened blocks, which give way and deposit you next to Jacob. Don't pick him up until you clear a path to the outside (there's no going back the way you came in) and build steps up to the top of the hill. The best spot for this is through the east wall, not far from the signpost in the room.

Once you're outside, carry Jacob back through the blue teleportal and set him in a bed inside the sickroom. Feed him a sardine-on-a-stick. He'll ask for a Tingle tablet next, but only after a night's sleep. He'll then need another night's sleep, which makes this a perfect time to hunt down bonus items through the blue teleportal.

Bonus: Recipe Defuddle Drop, Ring of Clarity

You'll need an herbalist's cauldron for this one, so either lug it along or plan a return to your base. Go west from the blue teleportal, beyond the mansion with the broken roof that's part of the third challenge (loot the decorations from inside if you haven't yet), to reach a temple with evil idols on either side of its entrance. Speak with the tearwolf at the top of the steps, who teaches you how to make the Defuddle drops he can't make for himself. If you need a confusing claw, get one from a scarewolf outside the temple. Use a Defuddle drop on the tearwolf. He gives you a ring of clarity as a sign of gratitude.

Bonus: Gold Ring

While you're assisting the tearwolf, get to the top of his temple. The treasure chest on the roof has a gold ring inside.

The four patients sleep fitfully even after you've done everything you can for them. Elle's reward for you is a haberdashery blueprint, which shows you how to build a sewing room.

If a night hasn't passed yet, sleep now. When you see Jacob at the Banner of Hope, speak with him to get a seed of life.

DEFEND YOUR LV. 3 BASE

After you complete the haberdashery blueprint, Gerontius asks you to raise the base to lv. 3. If you're short of the required score, decorate the rooms inside your base with items gathered from the Prickly Wilds. When the base reaches lv. 3, Gerontius presents you with a seed of life.

The Hades condor has mustered its forces nearby. Speak with Elle to begin a defense of your base. Phase one consists of two pairs of killerpillars. The second phase begins with two more killerpillars. They're soon joined by a duo of scarewolves that are strong enough to tear through earth walls if left unchecked. The leader of the assault is a walking corpse. When the final enemy falls, you get the red teleportal.

RIMULDAR: ANCIENT PALACE

Set up the red teleportal to open a new island for exploration. Almost everyone in the base has a new quest for you, but you should sleep to recover from the battle and get another glimpse of the past.

IMPROVING WATER AND COOKING

Get the quests from Casey, Nosh, and Gerontius. You can wait to get Elle's quest, as its completion requires items you'll pick up while working for everyone else. Casey wants better water for the base, which unlocks the filter fountain recipe. Nosh wants a better cooking crafting station. Gerontius asks for a text called the Farmer Sutra, which is found inside an ancient palace beyond the red teleportal.

Collect bigonia leaves from the plants found everywhere in the water. You could go back to your base and build the filter fountain, but there's no pressing need for it. When you add it to the watering hole, it upgrades to a purification pool. The reward from Casey is palm lumber (x10).

A Shopping List

The palace with the Farmer Sutra is a good distance away from the red teleportal. While you're traveling to it, pick up wheat, potatoes (plants with white flowers), and heartfruit (plants with red fruit growing in the water). You'll also need a cooked crab claw and a sardine-on-a-stick soon.

While traveling toward the spot marked by Gerontius, explore the watery areas and the tops of the hills. You should collect a number of new raw materials and learn new recipes. The palace you're heading toward is built from the brick blocks you need to build the brick barbecue, so cut out a few to carry back.

Bonus: Windows

Explore the caves scattered throughout the mountains. One will have a treasure chest with windows (x25) (the location is random).

Bonus: Rusty Nugget

A treasure chest atop a narrow earthen tower has rusty nuggets (x5).

Bonus: Seed of Life

Atop the arch that marks the change from swamp to brick blocks is a treasure chest with a seed of life inside.

Attack the skeletons prowling the brick-clad palace grounds. They drop rusty nuggets, which are required for improved equipment. Don't worry about getting more than a handful for now. Plan a return trip to this area after you build better weapons back at your base.

You can find the Farmer Sutra inside a building that has prestidigitator guards outside. The only enemy inside the building is a large and immobile lunatic. It charges up an attack that flings three energy balls that deal damage. Since it doesn't move, all you need to do is avoid the energy balls and counterattack while it prepares its next blast.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Bonus: Chimaera Wing, Medicinal Herb

After defeating the lunatick, explore the top of the castle walls. There are two treasure chests on the towers: one contains chimaera wing (x5), and the other has medicinal herb (x5).

Bonus: Divine Dagger, Gold

The doors on either side of the lunatick are locked. After you learn how to make the keys needed to unlock them, return here and claim gold (x5) and divine dagger (x50) from the treasure chests behind the doors.

REDISCOVERING AGRICULTURE

Get the Farmer Sutra from the chest behind the lunatick, and return to the base. Talk to Gerontius to give him the Farmer Sutra. He hands over chimaera wing (x5), then asks you to follow the veggie patch blueprints.

Before you undertake that task, build a brick barbecue and accept the orange oil (x10) from Nosh. Replace the cookfire in the cafeteria with the brick barbecue to create a barbecue kitchen.

Build the veggie patch (earth blocks that must be tilled won't flash blue when placed, but they're still the proper material) and leave enough room to add walls to it later. When the veggie patch is complete, Gerontius provides potato sprout (x5). Enclose the veggie patch, then add a light source and a chest to create a room known as an indoor allotment. To learn more about farming, refer back to the Builder Basics section of this guide.

ELLE REQUESTS ADDITIONAL RESCUES

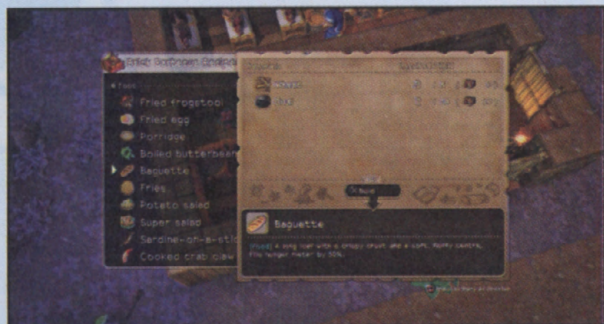

Despite her frustration with her patients' lack of progress, Elle still wants to help everyone she can. Go through the red teleportal and find Mildred, who is the first right down the ravine behind a collection of broken barricades. Pick up Mildred and deliver her to the infirmary. Before you head back out for the next rescue, you need to add an additional bed for the next patient, Hazel.

Follow the river north from the red teleportal to an island guarded by treefaces that appear when you approach. Defeat the treefaces, then break through blocks to uncover Hazel. Return with her to your base and place her in a bed.

MEAL PREPARATION

Both Hazel and Mildred have specific food requests, and a day must pass between each meal. Cook any new recipes you find until you learn what you need for Mildred and Hazel. You'll also need to fish up salmon and gather pure water from the purification pool.

DAY	MILDRED	HAZEL
1	Crab claw	Sardine-on-a-stick
2	Baguette	Fries
3	Super salad	Sautéed salmon
4	—	Bouillabaisse

Use the days between each meal to grow crops, and also to learn the necessary recipes to feed the women. You can also return through the red teleportal to collect bonus items and complete challenges.

To prepare for a trip through the red teleportal, upgrade your equipment, and if you plan to complete the bonus quests, build a bonfire and potato sprout to keep in your inventory. Go north to explore more of the ruins around the ancient palace.

Bonus: Food, Rusty Nuggets

Use the ladders at the base of the tall wooden towers to reach a pair of bodkin archers. One wants a potato sprout from you in exchange for its rusty nuggets (x6). The other needs a bonfire under his brick stove to warm his food. He generously rewards you with butterbean (x10) and potato (x10).

Bonus: Blueprint Tribute to a Missing Maker

Examine the damaged hunter mech under the brick roof to get the tribute to a missing maker blueprint. Follow the blueprint to create a graveyard.

MORE REWARDS AND ATTACKS

After both Mildred and Hazel have been through their courses of meals, speak with Elle to get medicinal herb (x5). Talk to Mildred and Hazel after they're fully recovered and waiting at the Banner of Hope. Each presents you with a seed of life.

Your next task is to defend the base. Speak with Elle, then meet the initial enemy horde that consists of four treefaces. Phase two is four walking corpses, joined by the leader of the attack, a treevil. Successfully defending the base results in a reward of medicinal herb (x5).

Sleep after the battle. When you awaken, investigate the sickroom. Talk to Elle and then Gerontius, and reply YES to both. When you speak with Edsel, Kean, and Irvyn, they become walking corpses you must kill. To make the fight easier, speak with one at a time. Afterward, complete another conversation with Elle.

Gerontius and Mildred now have quests. Mildred's quest is simple: build a ballista. Build one, and then speak with her to get medicinal herb (x5).

THE PAST HAUNTS THE PRESENT

Gerontius hands over a letter and marks the location of a possibly familiar inn through the red teleportal. The strange aura that hangs over the patrons is explained when you give the letter to a man in the back, who is Gerontius's student Illius.

Everyone inside the bar reanimates as walking corpses. Don't become cornered during this fight, or their superior numbers can quickly deplete your HP. When the fight concludes, Illius gives you Illius's thesis, which you must return to Gerontius. After you hand over the papers, Gerontius wants the base improved to lv. 4. He rewards your efforts with a seed of life.

Bonus: Ring of Criticality

Note the location of the tower on the way to confront Illius. It's currently locked. Return here after obtaining a key to get a ring of criticality from inside a treasure chest.

Elle mentions that additional monsters are approaching the base. When you're healthy and properly equipped, start the battle. The first phase is two pairs of walking corpses. They initially appear as human, but when approached, their true forms are revealed. Phase two begins with more walking corpses and is capped off by a corpse corporal. Your reward for repelling the attack is the green teleportal.

RIMULDAR: HOLY SANCTUM

Place the green teleportal. Carry Elle to the sickroom and put her on a bed. The land through the green teleportal is filled with roaming undead creatures and perfectly reflects the mood of the base: bleak.

FINDING THE KEYS TO SALVATION

Talk to Hazel, who shares her knowledge of how to create liquid silver after seeing five silver nuggets. If you need any silver, go through the green teleportal and examine the surrounding cliffs. She adds a seed of life to close the deal.

Catch up with Gerontius, who is not handling his granddaughter's injury very well. He firms his resolve and sends you through the green teleportal in search of the transmutation table, a crafting station capable of producing a cure for Elle's sickness.

Return Trips

Creating silver liquid unlocks a slew of recipes; one of particular note is a key. Revisit the locked doors you encountered during your earlier exploration.

Travel through the green teleport and follow the quest marker southward. The spirit of Thalamus appears at the top of what's left of the world tree. He imparts the knowledge you seek—how to build a transmutation table. When you return to Gerontius afterward, your reward is a seed of life. Of course, provided you have a key, there's nothing stopping you from collecting the holyhock Thalamus mentioned before you head back.

Go west from where you spoke with Thalamus. Climb to the top of the mountains and look for an opening marked by two sconces. If you're having trouble locating the entrance, going into bird's-eye view allows you to see a rectangular outline in the mountains where the dungeon below it resides. The mouth of the dungeon is on the south side of the rectangle. Descend the steps and follow the passages to a slumbering dragon.

The blue dragon fights similarly to the green creatures you faced in Cantlin, but its breath weapon is a cloud of poison. Stay out of range and use the ballista to take down the dragon, who drops a dragon scale when defeated. Pick up the holyhock from behind the dragon. The reward for showing the holyhock to Gerontius is an additional seed of life.

Bonus: Comfy Sofa

Explore the caves scattered throughout the mountains. One will have a treasure chest with a comfy sofa (the location is random).

Bonus: Strength Ring

A large ghoul stands still near a pool of water. He's easily identified by his large size and bright blue skin. If you can take him down, the reward is a strength ring.

SAVE ELLE

Back at the base, use your current herbalist's cauldron as material to build a transmutation table. Place the transmutation table in the spot previously occupied by the cauldron to make a new type of room.

To make the divine draught Elle needs, you need five holyhock plants. Talk to Gerontius. Turn the holyhock into two seeds at the transmutation table. Plant the seeds into tilled earth and let them grow for two days. With two days' growth, you're able to harvest 10 holyhock plants, five per full-grown plant. Spend the two days gathering any items you haven't claimed yet.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Bonus: Silver

Unlock the door to the mausoleum near the world tree to reach a treasure chest with silver (x15).

Bonus: Seed of Life

Explore the green area south of the world tree. You can find a gold golem, an extra ballista with instructions (take it back to your base with you!), and (most importantly) a seed of life inside a treasure chest hidden halfway up an earthen tower.

After you create a divine draught, use it on Elle in the sickroom. Talk to Gerontius and receive a seed of life. Save it! You're back at the point where keeping the seed of life as an emergency full-life restoration is more important than five additional HP.

FINAL ATTACKS BEFORE THE BIG BOSS

Check your equipment before speaking with Gerontius to start the first of many battles. If you haven't made a catholicon ring for yourself yet, do so now. It's the reward for completing the fifth challenge and worth the time spent putting it together. Without the ring, you'll need to keep at least one status-removal item ready because you'll be facing every type of negative status in the upcoming fights.

The first battle has two phases, and the reward for turning it back is antidotal herb (x5). First, six drohl drones attack the base in two waves. The second group is two bodkin fletchers, who still love to run away even though they're the ones attacking, and four walking corpses. The leader is a large bodkin bowyer.

The second battle is beast-heavy and rewards you with Tingle tablet (x5). It kicks off with four killerpillars and two drackolytes. After you've eliminated them, phase two is two killerpillars and four walking corpses who initially appear to be human. A king killerpillar is the leader of this group.

The final group to attack before the arrival of the Hades condor starts off with five treefaces, which drain your hunger meter often. Phase two is a pair of tearwolves and four walking corpses. The leader is a corpse corporal. When the final enemy falls, you get medicinal herb (x5).

Before you begin the battle against the Hades condor, you need to set up a ballista. It should be at the west end of the base, and it must be inside the boundary of your base. It needs to be elevated with five sturdy blocks (think brick) underneath it, and should have enough room around it that you can stand behind it and fire. Align it with the Banner of Hope in order to hit the Hades condor consistently. Make sure you have vines or ladders placed on one of the sides of the platform for quick access.

A second ballista can be set up on the same or a different platform facing east. However, in order to avoid additional damage during the battle, it is advantageous to drop the Hades condor beyond the west wall and ignore attacking on the east altogether.

When everything is ready, save one last time and then talk to Gerontius again to fight the Hades condor.

BOSS FIGHT: THE HADES CONDOR

When the fight begins, anything you built outside the base's borders is gone. A stone walkway appears at the west end of town, with the Hades condor flapping above it. Sneak in a test shot immediately to gauge your aim. You should get a hit as it summons random creatures to attack your base. If you're too high or low, you should restart. If you're off to the left or right, pick up the ballista and reset it.

Your base is unimportant during the battle. Ignore the updates that tell you when rooms are destroyed. Continue eliminating any enemies in the base while the Hades condor circles around, since they'll complicate things later. Avoid the green spheres that appear. They build up a charge and deal damage, but you have a second to escape should one pop up unexpectedly.

When you see a message about the Hades condor resting its wings, that means the condor is hovering over the stone walkway west of the base and is in prime position to be hit with two ballista bolts. When it's hit three total times, it falls to the ground. Hurry out to where it rests and inflict as much damage as possible. The walkway is why the west is the best direction to aim your ballistae. Anywhere else the Hades condor falls, it will be in poisonous water.

You must repeat this pattern three times to defeat the Hades condor. Each time it falls, the number of times you must hit it with a ballista to knock it to the ground again increases by two.

Run back to the base and get ready for more random monsters to be summoned. The two in the front are now joined by enemies attacking the east end of the base. If the base is clear, you can try to hit the condor while it's on the move, but it's a tricky shot to make.

When the Hades condor pauses beyond the west wall this time, it unleashes a whirlwind that you can't avoid unless you've built a structure with a roof to hide in. Otherwise it tosses you outside the base, into the poisonous water. The good news is that the condor should rest its wings soon. The bad news is you likely aren't close enough to your primary ballista to hit it. Hurry to whichever ballista is closest and fire off a shot or two.

When you defeat it, the Hades condor drops a storm stone. You then learn how to make a Staff of Rain. Build the legendary item and use it near the Banner of Hope. A new location pops up on the compass. Remember to save before you go through the portal to a new land so you can return later and complete any remaining challenges.

CHALLENGES—RIMULDAR

COMPLETE WITHIN 30 DAYS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build gourmand's girdles

RAISE BASE LEVEL TO 5

Terra Incognita Reward: can build wooden furniture

FIX THE ROOF OF THE RUINS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build roofing tiles

Through the blue teleportal, travel to the tall building with a broken roof. The unlocked treasure chest on top has a note asking for someone to finish repairing the roof. The materials needed to do the job are also inside the chest.

Fill in the holes on the roof with the proper roofing materials to unlock the second treasure chest. The reward is learning how to make roof tiling, pitched tiling, outer corner tiling, and inner corner tiling.

OBTAIN CROWN GOOWELS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build water crystals

Obtaining the crown goowels is an exercise in patience. Take a fishing rod through the green teleportal to the pool of water that's shaped like a slime. Continue fishing until you reel in a king slime (see Appendix VII for your odds). Defeat it in battle to get the crown goowels.

ANSWER ALL OF THALAMUS'S QUIZZES CORRECTLY

STARTING AREA

Go west from the island where you fought the drohl drifter for the heart of darkness. The building there is divided into two rooms. The challenge is to make the room on the left match the room on the right.

To complete the challenge, you must build a washtub, two pots, a cookfire, a pot plant, and a torch. A properly placed item is surrounded by a blue flash. If you don't see the flash, you need to move the item. When the rooms are identical, the two chests at the front unlock. Get the white block (keep it and the other blocks in storage) and stone axe from inside them.

THROUGH THE BLUE TELEPORTAL

Go west after passing through the blue teleportal. The challenge here is deceptively simple: plant a palm seedling in the exposed earth block. The two chests in the front contain gold and a blue block.

THROUGH THE RED TELEPORTAL

Go east of the ancient palace to reach this puzzle. Destroy the blocks going from the center to the left (when viewed with the chests to your back). Move the blocks so they instead point to where the 3 would be on a clock. The two chests contain evil idol (x2) and a red block.

GREEN TELEPORTAL

Go south from the green teleportal, almost to the opposite end of the island. The only challenge here is to prove that you completed the other quizzes. Place the white, blue, and red blocks into the open spots to unlock the chest in the back. Your ultimate reward is the recipe for the powerful catholicon ring. Make one as soon as you can, and leave it equipped for the rest of the chapter.

NEW PLACES, NEW FACES

Your new base comes equipped with a miner's refiner, which is a new crafting station. The first resident is named Glutimus. Brush off his dismissive comments while accepting his request, and start the work of building your base.

First, clear the earth from the hot water spring in the corner. Patch up the walls to create a public bath. The reward of broken branch (x3) is a material for his next request, but you need to track down additional items.

PART 4:

BONUS ITEMS

To make towel rails and washtubs, you must find ivy and gather fur. Go east into the hills where ivy grows between ledges. Get to the top of the hills where hammerhoods and brownies patrol. Put the finishing touches on what becomes a Kol public bath to earn white petals (x5) from Glutimus.

Food Shortage

There's not much food available initially, and what you can get requires cooking. Pick up at least one orange oil while you're exploring so you can make a bonfire, then a cookfire.

Bonus: World Map

Search the caves in the south half of Kol until you find the world map inside a treasure chest. It may appear in any of the caves.

QUICK BATTLE AND A NEW RECRUIT

A surprisingly early battle is up next. The battle begins against four brownies and ends against a knight errant. You're on your own for the battle, so make quick work of the brownies and fight cautiously against the knight errant. When the final enemy falls, you obtain a seed of life.

While Glutimus proves useless in battle (although his excuse-making ability is unrivaled), he does know where some of his bodybuilding buddies are holed up. Before you can get to them, you must defeat a knight errant guarding a gatehouse.

Go south and smash through the gate with your giant mallet, then prepare for a repeat of the fight you just had against the leader of the enemy assault. When the knight errant falls, bust through the opposite gate and collect a rock. You're coming back through this area soon, but you can return with a better weapon. Back at the base, claim chimaera wing (x3) from Glutimus.

Glutimus marks the location of your first target, Burley. Gather additional stone and look for shorter cacti that have flowers on top. Prickly peach cacti yield a fruit that you can eat if your hunger meter is strained. Just keep one in your inventory for Burley. If you have room in your inventory, harvest cutlets from the taller cacti.

Your first stop is a damaged room with a note atop a crate. Skim the note to move the quest target to a new location. The new marker will lead you to a cavern. The flooring inside gives easily, so keep moving to avoid falling down too deeply. Once far enough in, use Burley's voice to pinpoint his exact location.

Forging Harder Materials

Carry back enough copper, stone, and coal to create a forge and smelt a few copper bars.

Feed Burley a prickly peach, and harvest some coal and copper from inside the cave. Burley follows you back to your base, where your reward is a seed of life. Burley joins your settlement when you speak with him near the Banner of Hope.

Bonus: Gold Ring

The sign in front of the tall cactus is a hint to the location of a buried treasure chest. Move seven blocks north and 33 blocks east. (You can carry a block to help count the steps.) The chest you uncover holds a gold ring.

EAT, FIGHT, SLEEP

Famished after his ordeal, Burley requests cactus steak after explaining how they're prepared. He trades coal (x5) to you in exchange for a cactus steak.

A properly fed Burley quickly becomes an asset. Glutimus initiates a defense of the base against two scorpions, two iron scorpions, and a knight errant. Burley joins the fighting, while Glutimus claims to be dealing with another ailment. Defeat the attackers to get healing cream (x3).

Your next task is to build a basic bedroom. When that's complete, Glutimus hands over a straw mattress, which you can either place in the basic bedroom or use to set up a room of your own.

A GROUP OUTING

Glutimus marks the location of another bodybuilding buddy and advises you to take Burley with you. Speak with Burley, who tags along to help with any fighting. You can often request help like this from any resident of the base who isn't named Glutimus, so take advantage of it in the future.

Prepare for a fight against a knight errant and two legerdemen at the marked location not far from where lava and water meet. Go after the legerdemen first, as Burley typically focuses on the knight errant. Once you've vanquished all three enemies, a nearby chest unlocks. Use the key from inside the chest to open the cell door (hey, free door!). Maxi joins the party after a quick conversation. Unless you need some extra material from the desert, use a chimaera wing to return to your base, where you get a well-earned seed of life.

Bonus: Dragon Scale, Seed of Life

A green dragon has taken up residence high on a rocky pillar in the middle of the lava just east of the prison that held Maxi. The dragon uses a fiery breath attack, as well as a spin attack. It drops a dragon scale when it is defeated, and the chest it guards holds a seed of life.

RAISE THE BASE TO LV. 2 AND DEFEND IT

With the rooms you've put together so far, you shouldn't need to do much more to meet Glutimus's request to improve the base to lv. 2. Consider enclosing the miner's refiner and adding a chest, or building a crude kitchen. However you accomplish it, you get meat (x3) when it's done.

Another enemy attack is imminent. Check your equipment's durability and boost your supply of healing creams. Maxi and Burley both do their part, and Glutimus finally provides practical support. Unfortunately, it's only advice that he offers; he'll still spend the battle running from room to room inside the base.

The first phase of the battle consists of two waves of two iron scorpions, followed by a pair of knights errant. Heed Glutimus's advice during phase two: stay away from the dancing flames. You can't damage them yet. Instead, move around them and set up outside the west wall, where the legerdeman will appear. When you take down the legerdeman, the dancing flames fizzle out. You earn a blue teleportal from the battle.

KOL: ISLAND OF LAVA

Lava covers much of the island on the other side of the blue teleportal. Powerful enemies guard gates and make early exploration tricky. Initial trips should focus on improving your equipment.

BODYBUILDERS DEMAND IMPROVEMENT

Glutimus sends you through the blue teleportal in search of iron. Travel west from the blue teleportal through two unguarded gates (keep the lava on your left between the gates). Avoid the dancing flames since you still can't damage them.

Watch carefully for an opening in the side of the mountain. It's recessed and not easy to see. The floor has weak spots, so be ready to hop to higher ground when it gives way. Mine as much iron and coal as possible before you return to your base. Create 10 ingots for Glutimus, who returns copper ingot (x5).

Bonus: Portrait of a Lady

A treasure chest with the item portrait of a lady appears randomly in one of the caves on the Island of Iava.

Bonus: Chimaera Wing

The chest on top of the earthen tower contains chimaera wing (x3).

Bonus: Wood, Seed of Life

Travel northwest from the blue teleportal to a small damaged castle building. Defeat three knights aberrant to unlock a treasure chest holding a seed of life. Go to the opposite side and defeat a knight errant to gain access to wood (x5) inside another treasure chest.

Bonus: Wood

The chest atop the broken tracks running into and above the lava contains wood (x5).

A Forest for Your Base

Smash the stumps you find on the way to the iron mine. Replant the seedlings inside your base, and you'll have a consistent source of lumber that can be harvested safely.

Burley continues to push for spicier food, even if it's meat. The searing steak he wants requires chilli peppers and hareloin steak, which you may have picked up already. If not, travel through the blue teleportal for the peppers, and hunt down spiked hares (they're purple) for hareloin steak. Prepare a searing steak for him, and he repays you with prickly peach (x5).

BUILD A BETTER BATH AND DEFEND IT

Maxi requests improvements to the base. He inspires the learning of the armourer's sign recipe while asking for upgrades in the bathhouse. Add an armourer's sign and two sets of ornamental swords to upgrade the room to bodybuilders' baths. You earn chimaera wing (x3) for your work.

Talking with Glutimus initiates a defense of the base from another assault. You should be using iron equipment at this point. If not, consider a return trip to the iron mine. Phase one starts with two knights errant that are shortly joined by two legerdemens. Phase two is the same, except the leader of the assault, a knight aberrant, appears after the legerdemens. The seed of life you earn after ending the assault is a welcome addition to your health pool, and you'll need it for your next task.

RESCUE BARBELLA WITH HER CANNON

Glutimus is so excited for the next task that he agrees to join the party. Don't leave the base to rescue Barbella until you have all three bodybuilders with you. Step through the blue teleportal and travel to the marked location. Where your path requires travel over lava, build a bridge with earth blocks.

Bonus: Wood

The chest in the ruined eastern guard tower next to the body holds wood (x5).

Bonus: Medicinal Herb

The chest in the ruined western guard tower has medicinal herb (x3).

You have two paths to Barbella. You can either fight through the enemies guarding the gates, or carefully climb the mountains and descend near her cell. The stealthy route requires solid building skills since the bodybuilders are not the best at following. They need easy paths built for them in order to keep up with you. If you choose the fighting route, don't take on too many monsters at the same time. You have help, but there are far more monsters than bodybuilders.

Bonus: Ring of Awakening, Strength Ring

Fighting to reach Barbella allows you to discover two additional treasure chests. A cannibox that drops a ring of awakening appears in a random location. The chest to the north holds a strength ring.

Talk to Glutimus again to work out how to build a cannon, then build one. Show off your creation to Glutimus to earn coal (x10). Accept his follow-up quest, then get everyone together again and go back through the blue teleportal.

Return to Barbella's cell and put the cannon to use. Speak with Barbella inside her cell, and she joins the party. A horde of monsters appears outside the cell, but it isn't necessary to fight them. Run through them and down the path until a message pops up informing you that you've set her free. If everyone is still with you (check the compass for a frowny face), you can use a chimaera wing to return to your base quickly.

Bonus: Seed of Life, Accessories, Iron Ingot

After you defeat the boss troll, you gain access to a room with four chests inside. From left to right, the chests feature: seed of life, steel sabatons, a cannibox that drops a ruby of protection, and iron ingot (x20).

However you arrive there, speak with the man in front of Barbella's cell, then to Barbella herself. She sends you to find her design documents since the cannon they describe is the only way to break her out of her cell.

A troll and two legerdemens guard the chest with the documents. When the monsters fall, the chest becomes unlocked. Grab the design documents from inside the chest and return to your base. Glutimus won't complete the quest unless he's inside the base. You get iron ingot (x3) and the ability to create a welder's workbench.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

With Barbella safely back in the base, talk to her so she joins your settlement. Get your seed of life from Glutimus, which also triggers your learning how to make dumb-bells. Continue speaking with Glutimus, who wants the base boosted to lv. 3. After you've accomplished that, he presents you with bunicorn steak (x3).

Barbella wastes no time settling into the base. She asks you to follow the double-barrelled bombard blueprints while also showing you how to make a pressure plate and button. When it's ready (aim it toward the west since that's where many attacks originate), she gives you healing cream (x3).

Bonus: Blueprint Roller Kol-ster

Through the blue teleportal, at the far northwestern end of the island, is a structure of bricks with an incomplete track missing four pieces: two straight, one sloped, and one curved. You can bring your own pieces or move the ones that are already there to repair the track. Just move the existing pieces to the spots that weren't connected already.

Barbella takes over Glutimus's role as initiator of base defense battles. The first phase is a pair of knights errant, followed by a pair of knights aberrant. The middle phase starts off with dancing flames that you should avoid. When the two legerdemmen appear, take them down quickly to remove the dancing flames as well.

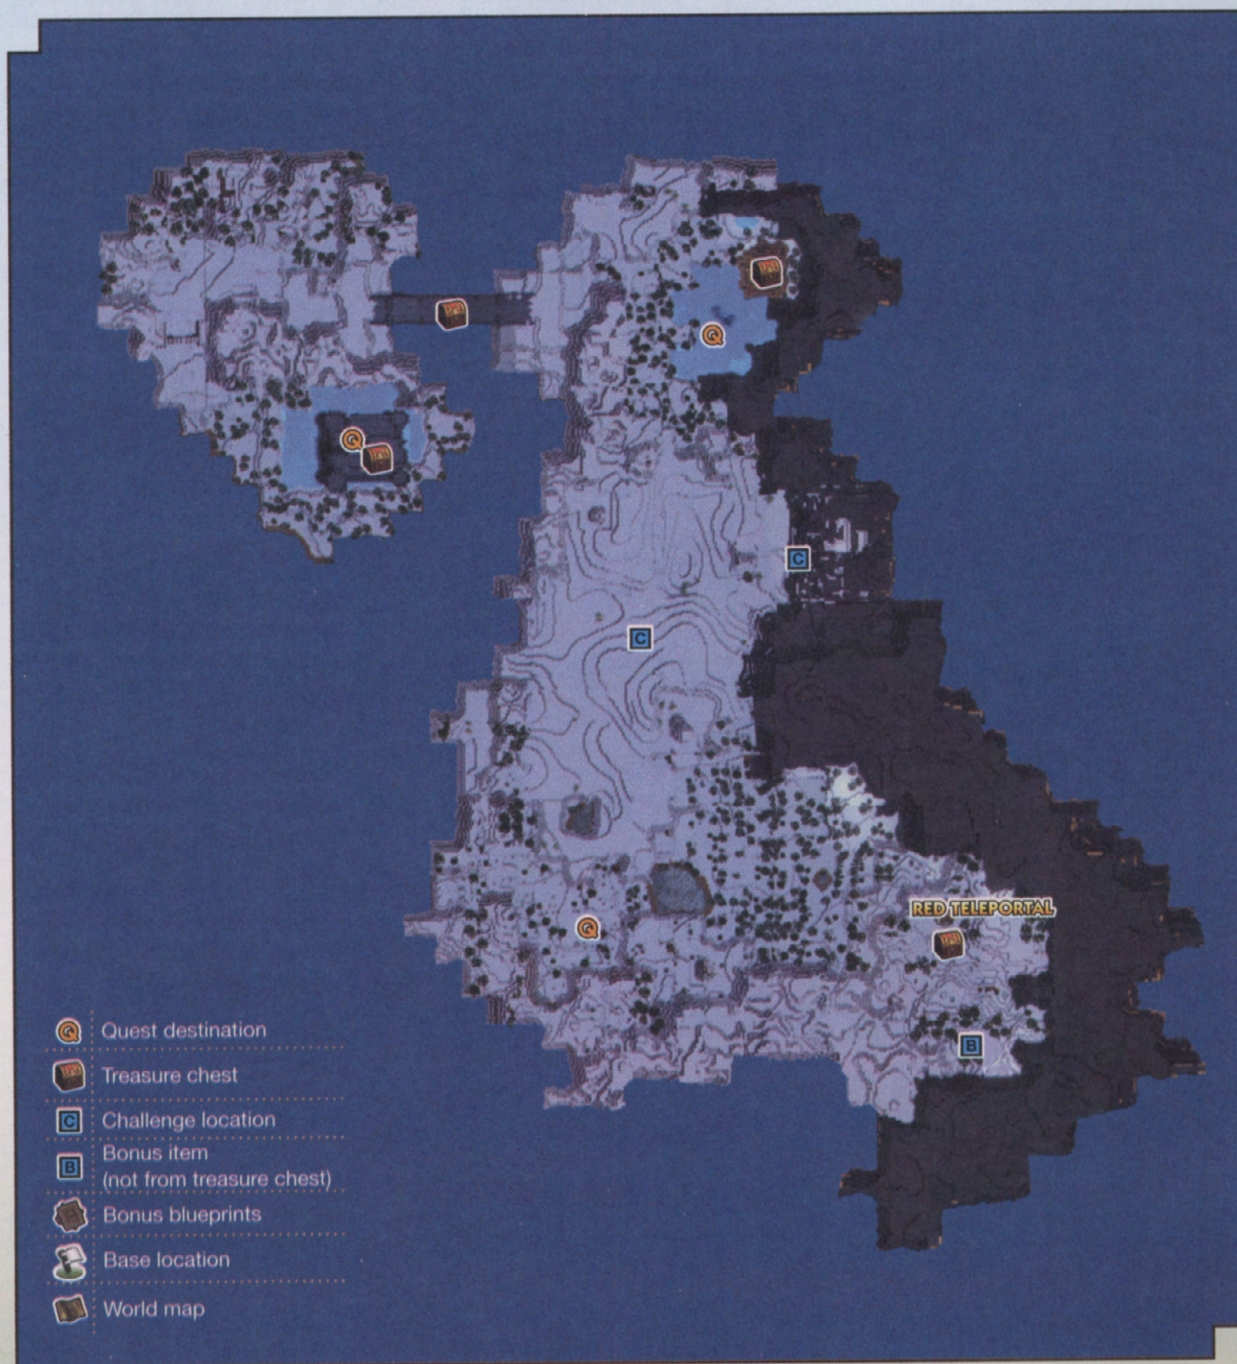

The third phase begins with two knights errant and two legerdemmen, and it soon becomes much more dangerous when the leader of the attack appears. The troll has more HP than you want to handle with just your weapons. Use the cannons as much as possible. The troll will destroy portions of your base more effectively than anything else you've faced to this point. If it destroys the double-barrelled bombard, try to set up one of the cannons to keep hitting the troll. When the dust settles from the fight, you get the red teleportal.

GALENHOLM: ISLAND OF ICE

The island through the red teleportal is as frosty as the first island was fiery. The enemies here are fierce and powerful, so you should never travel alone. Cannons may not be good for the environment, but they can be a boon for your safety.

AN ICY RESCUE

The newcomer is named Baird, and he wastes no time in asking for help. He marks the location of someone in need of rescue. Barbella has a request for ice blocks. Both quests require travel through the red teleportal. Assemble a team to go with you, then head out. While you're exploring the new land, look for new raw materials, especially mythril veins.

Bonus: Ring of Criticality

Go south from the red teleportal to find a gigantes vainly trying to smash fortress wall blocks. Complete the task for her with Hela's hammer, then feed her pancakes to obtain her treasure: a ring of criticality.

Baird's quest marker leads west to Cecille. Speaking with her starts a battle against three killing machines, one of which is slightly larger than the others. Be ready to move away as soon as any of the mechs show signs of an upcoming spin. When the battle ends, Cecille joins your party. When you return her to your base, a relieved Baird presents you with a seed of life.

The ice blocks Barbella desires are located far to the north. Cut 10 from the frozen lake and return to your base. The lava (x5) you earn isn't the best reward you get from this quest.

You learn how to create Crack shots and Sizz shots, which finally allows you to take down dancing flames and frostburns.

Bonus: Chimaera Wing, Featherfall Footwear

The treasure chest inside the tower near the frozen lake has chimaera wing (x3). The door inside is locked, but you should get up to the roof. The treasure chest there has featherfall footwear, which makes the effort worthwhile.

FIRE AND ICE COMEUPPANCE

Make a pile of Crack shots (hold off on Sizz shots) and accept Barbella's next quest. Travel through the blue teleportal and fling Crack shot at the dancing flames. When they are hit with a Crack shots, they leave behind a flame orb. You need five for Barbella (who gives you Sizz shot (x30) for fulfilling her request), but you should collect a few more since you're already here.

Barbella's follow-up task begins with a blueprint and the recipe for making a book. Recreate her vision to build a welder's workshop, and she presents you with iron ingot (x5).

AND NOW THE MAGIC HAPPENS

Barbella sends you to defend the base from another assault. Phase one is two knights aberrant, followed by two legerdemens. For phase two, get your Crack shots ready to take down six dancing flames. Stay focused on them until they're all down, because the residents stay engaged with them, despite doing no damage to them. Gang up on the legerdemens last to earn a seed of life.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Tired of the monster incursions, Burley presents you with a piston palisade blueprint that can be used to keep the monsters out. Build it in the indicated spot to earn chimaera wing (x3).

Next, Barbella shows you how to make power crystals. Gather the required materials (you should have everything already) and assemble one, which leads to the recipe for a magic ingot. Make a magic ingot and settle in to scroll through a number of new recipes.

Hela's hammer is the item that interests Barbella. Make one and show it to her. She gives you thermobattery (x10). Build as much magic armour and weaponry as possible, then equip it all.

BUILD A BETTER BATH BEFORE BIG BATTLES

Learn the recipe for Hela's hammer sign from Maxi. Remove the armourer's sign from the baths, then upgrade it and put it back up to turn the room into Hela hot baths. The medicinal herb (x3) and the residents equipping magical weapons are welcome rewards, considering what's coming next.

The battle that begins after checking in with Barbella kicks off with four frostburns, but this time, the magic weapons allow everyone to damage them. Two hawk men pop up next to round out phase one. Phase two consists of two pairs of hawk men, followed by the hunter mech leader of the attack. Your reward for defending the base is medicinal herb (x3).

When you talk to Barbella again, you learn that it's time to take the battle to the monsters. Recruit the bodybuilders into the party and travel through the blue teleportal. Your target is the giant fiery hand in the lava field.

Build a bridge out to the hand so everyone can follow and join in the attack. With magic armour and a magic shield equipped, the damage you take from the magmalice's hand is relatively low. Keep up the pressure until the hand sinks into the lava and leaves behind a seed of life. Barbella matches that reward back at the base. Save one of the seeds for an emergency healing item for an upcoming battle.

FROSTY FIGHT AT A LV. 4 BASE

Glutimus's latest request is to improve the base to lv. 4. He also offers the Pec and Whistle blueprint as a room to add that will help boost the base's score. If you follow the blueprint, you create a bodybuilders' bar. If that doesn't add enough to your score, search your inventory for decorations to add to rooms, or use cladding and flooring to enhance the value of existing rooms.

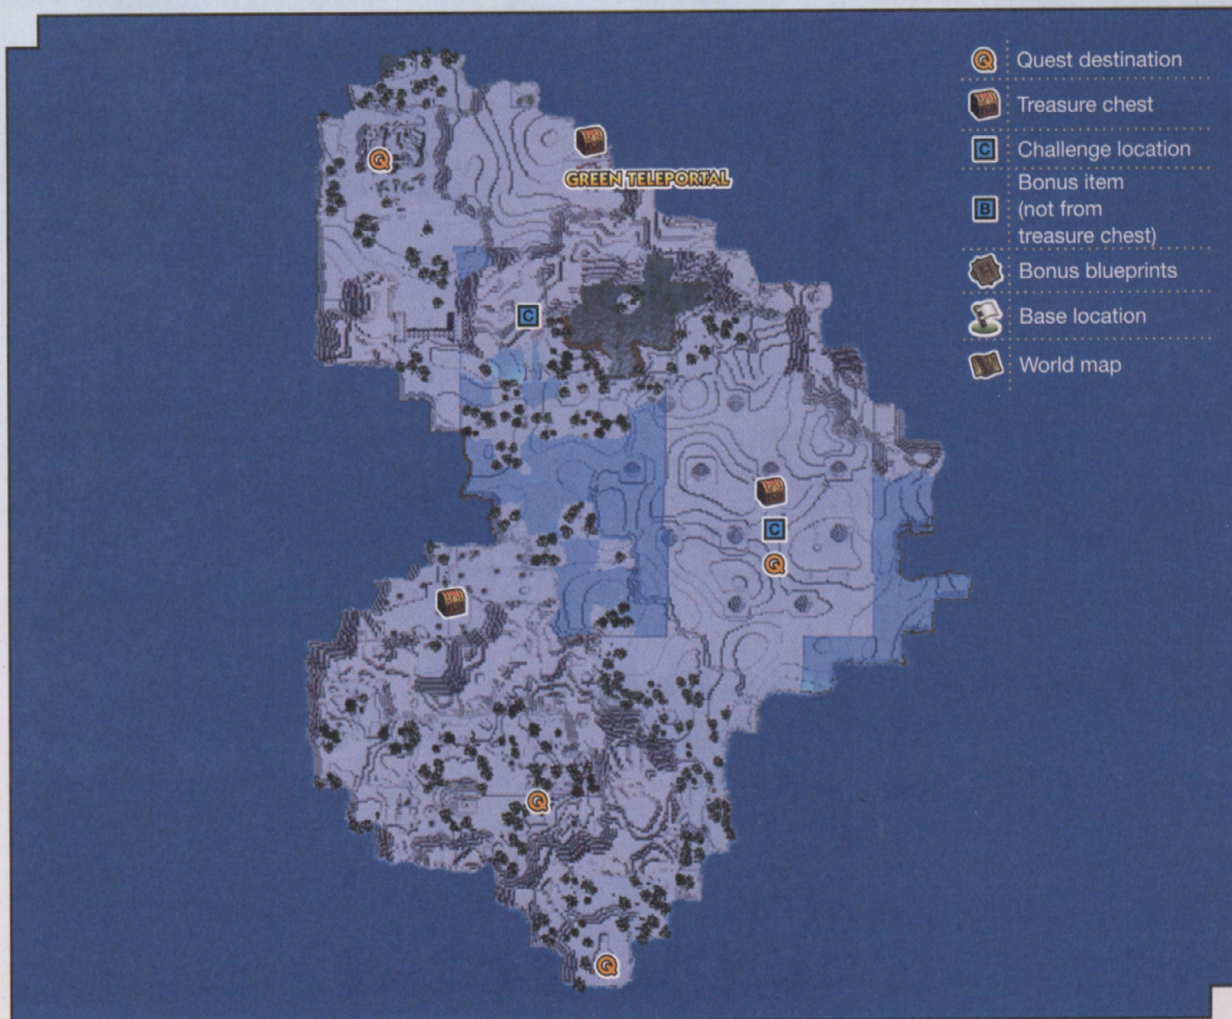

Track down Barbella to begin a big battle. Phase one is six frostburns and a hunter mech. Phase two starts with two hunter mechs and ends with two killing machines. This is a dangerous battle, considering the tendency of the base's residents to fight in a tight knot. Four spinning attacks will chew through everyone's health in a hurry. The key is to focus on one enemy at a time and burn it down quickly before moving on to the next. The final phase starts off with another six frostburns before the attack's leader, a firm fiend's hand, appears. This battle is similar to the one you completed against the magmalice's hand. Magic armour and shield cut down on incoming damage from the hand's swipe attack. There's enough of a break between swipes that you should be able to restore your HP safely. Keep hammering away until the hand falls and leaves behind the green teleportal.

GALENHOLM: THE RUINS

The final teleportal leads to the ruins of Galenholm. The ruins, located west of the green teleportal, hold the key to salvation for the people of Kol and Galenholm.

ANOTHER HAND BATTLE

With the green teleportal in place, talk to Barbella, who sends you through it to retrieve important documents. The enemies around the ruins of Galenholm are powerful, so take everyone with you and also pack your magic cannons.

On your approach to the ruins, stop when the music changes and an enemy counter pops up. Six of the seven enemies are gargoyles and frostburns. The seventh enemy is another giant hand, which is your first target. Set up your magic cannons where they will hit the hand when fired. Fire each cannon, then move to safety when the hand lobs ice balls. Some of the monsters from below may come up to attack, but allow your escort to handle them.

After you destroy the hand, move down to the ruins and mop up the remaining enemies. Don't tackle too many at once, as the gargoyles are capable of putting people to sleep. Your goal is a killing machine in the ruins. Speak with it to get Galeleo's research records. Hand over the papers to Barbella to receive magic ingot (x3).

Bonus: Seed of Life

Southwest after entering the blue teleportal and through a gate guarded by three mechs will take you to the other side of the mountains. Farther still, you will come upon a tall, snowy formation with a treasure chest at its peak containing a seed of life.

GALELEO'S MUSICAL INTERLUDE

Cecille has been struggling with sleep due to strange singing haunting her dreams. She provides a key and marks a spot through the red teleportal. The location is a tower with a locked door inside. Use the key to open the door, and ascend the ladders to reach the top floor. Speak with Galeleo's spirit, then return to Cecille. You receive heartfruit (x10), while she can enjoy sleeping better at night.

Glutimus chimes in with a musically themed request. He provides a lyre string and sends you through the green teleportal. If you want to complete this quest more quickly, move a welder's workbench someplace you can access it out in the world.

The marked location isn't a precise point. The Lyre of Ire is in a chest under one of the snow block pyramids. Investigate each pyramid until you find the chest with the Lyre of Ire.

Bonus: Seed of Life

Continue searching the pyramids until you find a second chest; there's a seed of life inside.

Use silver and the broken string to repair the Lyre of Ire, then carry it to the new location marked on your compass. Use the item on Galeleo and speak with him. You learn the secret of making a blue block (which does not require chalk in this chapter, despite its description). Return to Glutimus and claim your squid-on-a-stick (x2).

BASHING THROUGH THE SNOW

Build 20 blue blocks, then talk to Barbella. She marks Galeleo's storeroom on your compass and sends you to retrieve prototype plans. Unless you're confident in your magic cannon skills, assemble a team and go through the green teleportal.

Fight through the guards at the gate, or avoid them by climbing up the mountains. Galeleo's storeroom is underground, so descend the steps and set up your cannons (if you have them) to fire from the stairs toward the other end of the room. Fill the holes in the floor with blue blocks to summon two hunter mechs and a larger hunter mech.

The larger hunter mech remains in place while the others chase you around. Blast the larger hunter mech with cannonfire until it drops. If you're there alone, you need to keep moving to avoid the attacks of the other two monsters. When all three are deactivated, retrieve the prototype plans and learn the recipe for vulcovoltaic magimotor. Trade the plans to Barbella for power crystal (x3).

Barbella's next quest sends you through the red teleportal to a location she marks on your compass. It also inspires you to learn how to build the Bashmobile. Travel west to a bridge that leads to a castle. Killing machines and hunter mechs guard the bridge, so prepare for a series of battles. The machines are tied to the bridge, so if you run through them to the opposite end of the bridge, they return to their starting location.

Inside the castle, defeat the eight machines marked with the letter Q over their heads. There are five machines on the ground floor that fight as a group. The three on the balcony can be faced individually. When the last machine falls, the treasure chests unlock. The right-hand chest contains a curious contraption, and the left-hand chest holds a seed of life.

Bonus: Scandalous Swimsuit

Break through the bridge (after completing the "Bashing Through the Snow" section, make a big hole to escape via chimaera wing, unless you really enjoy digging) and land in the shallow water directly under. Open the chest to get a scandalous swimsuit.

Return to your base. Create a vulcovoltaic magimotor and Bashmobile at the welder's workbench. Talk to Barbella afterward to get a seed of life.

BASHMOBILE TEST-DRIVE

Try out the Bashmobile during the upcoming round of attacks. You must use it for the final battle of the chapter, and a little practice goes a long way. The first and second battles both award medicinal herb (x3).

The first battle opens with four dancing flames and two legerdemens. The second phase includes two knights aberrant and two legerdemens. The leader of the attack is a troll.

The second battle begins with four frostburns attacking the base. Two hunter mechs soon join them. When they're all down, seven frostburns appear and attack. The gigantes leader of the attack will likely destroy parts of your base with its powerful attacks.

Two knights errant kick off the third battle, soon joined by a knight aberrant. The second phase consists of two hunter mechs and the leader of the attack, a large killing machine. Finish the battle to earn a seed of life.

BOSS FIGHT: THE MAGMALICE AND THE FIRN FIEND

Prepare for the battle by placing healing items, the Bashmobile, and some Sizz shots and Crack shots (if you're accurate with these, they come in handy) in your inventory. A raised area appears around the base, with steps leading up from the base in four places.

The colours of the track are important. Grey areas are safe spaces from the ranged attacks of the two bosses. With any part of the firn fiend active, the light blue areas are dangerous. The red areas are dangerous when any part of the magmalice is active.

The greater your proficiency with the Bashmobile, the easier this fight becomes. Drive through the dancing flames and frostburns to reach whichever boss is active. Should you be knocked out of the Bashmobile, move to safety before trying to get back inside it.

Your first task is to ram the monster's hand with the Bashmobile. You don't need to aim directly at the hand—just drive toward the exposed head and the hand will absorb the crash. You have 120 seconds to reach the now-vulnerable head, which has moved to a new location. Do this first against the magmalice and dancing flames, then the firn fiend and frostburns.

With both heads down, the track becomes covered with five frostburns, five dancing flames, and one hand from the firn fiend and the magmalice. The ranged attacks on the red and blue portions of the track make a return here, so you must keep moving. You can continue to use the Bashmobile for this stage of the fight, but it isn't required. Ranged attacks and magical weapons work just as well.

When the twelfth enemy falls (watch the counter in the lower part of the screen), the red and blue portions of the track slip together and a hostile merger appears. You begin back at the Banner of Hope, but depending on the extent of the damage to your base, some of the steps may be hard to reach.

Minions fill the track again and make it more difficult to reach the hostile merger, which moves at regular intervals. Aim the Bashmobile at the hostile merger and crash into the giant hands to destroy them. You have 200 seconds to drive the Bashmobile into the hostile merger's head.

The last go-around begins with the hostile merger's hands restored. This time, you must bash one hand, then bash the other within 120 seconds. After that, you have 200 seconds to bash the monster's combined head.

After the battle, the hostile merger drops the cracked crystal. Talk to Barbella, then build the Sunstone from the cracked crystal, three blocks of lava, and a magic ingot. Once you're finished, show Barbella the final product, and return to the Banner of Hope to use the legendary item. Save before you travel to the new location that appears on the compass. One final chapter to go!

Terra Incognita Reward: can build talaria

RAISE BASE LEVEL TO 5

Terra Incognita Reward: can build hardwood and timbered blocks

DEFEAT ALL BOSS TROLLS AND GIGANTESES

Terra Incognita Reward: can build forbidden furniture

ENEMY	DROP	LOCATION
Boss troll	Vile visage	South of the base, in the desert.
Boss troll	Evil idol	Through the blue teleportal. Head southwest near the fort, behind a stone gate.
Gigantes	Draconic column	Through the red teleportal. Northwest over the mountains.
Gigantes	Dragonlord's standard	Through the green teleportal. Southeast over the mountains.

Wait to tackle these four enormous enemies until you've filled all of your equipment and accessory slots with solid choices. Set up cannons and evil idols to improve your chances of victory.

BUILD THE SPECTACULAR SPA

Terra Incognita Reward: can build hot water crystals

To obtain the blueprint, go through the green teleportal and travel south. The chest is inside a tunnel filled with precious metal veins. Numerous materials are required to complete the blueprint.

Jump through the blue teleportal and travel far to the north, where a troll is spying on a woman in a hot spring. Block the troll's view with a block to learn how to make fierce fountains.

OBTAIN THE RECIPE FOR THE LYRE OF SLIME IMMEMORIAL

Terra Incognita Reward: can build lyres of slime immemorial in every region (including Story Mode chapters)

Go through the red teleportal, then travel north to a cave entrance not far from the gigantes in the snowy field. The empty block shape in the bronze floor must be filled in with the blue blocks learned while making the Lyre of Ire. Block the evil idol's flames by placing a few blocks.

When the shape is filled with blue blocks, the way ahead becomes clear. Go through the door and follow the blue temple tiles. Deal with the killing machine and hunter mech guards on your way to a room with a chest. Open the chest to learn the secret to making the lyre of slime immemorial, which can now be built everywhere.

ASH, BONES, AND BAR-BELLS

You awaken in Tantegel with less equipment than ever, but at least Glutimus's gift stayed with you. The land offers up little in the way of materials, so walk toward the bonfire in the distance. Speak with the man at the fire, who introduces himself as Myrlund.

Take the bonfire and follow him across the grey landscape. After each pause, speak with Myrlund to get him moving again. The final destination is a small patch of green around a tattered banner and a statue.

Speak with Myrlund again. Use the green naviglobe to mark the location, since it won't appear on your compass otherwise. Shore up the walls of Myrlund's room so you can use it to rest, if necessary. Food isn't available, but Myrlund restores your hunger meter when you speak with him.

Myrlund's first request is for you to create holy water. Inspiration strikes and you learn the recipe for a horn-rimmed bucket. Gather white petals from the green area and turn them into healing cream before you venture outside the base.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

EXPLORING AN ASHEN WORLD

Look for the rare sprout with green leaves outside the base. These branches yield the broken sticks you need. Take the branches, along with a giant horn, to the tree stump to build a bucket.

Go southwest to reach the spring marked by Myrlund. Scoop up pure water from next to the fountain (get a few scoops while you're here). Note the seal of Erdrick in the pool. You can return here once your weapons have been improved and use it as a decoration in your base. Read the book next to the bonfire to move the quest marker to a new location.

New Threads

If any dark skeletons drop coarse cloth, return to Myrlund's location and craft armour at the tree stump.

The marker guides you to an abandoned campsite. Read the letter on top of the crate. Go east and move up to the top of the mountain. Continue east until you discover a body. Inspect the body, which provides a hint.

Smash through the blocks directly ahead of the body to uncover a hidden hermitage. Descend the steps and fight off the dark skeletons.

Evil idols are another hazard in the hermitage. They're too strong for your current weapon.

Explore the area thoroughly to uncover all the treasure chests it holds. Follow the blue temple tiles, which lead you to a green dragon guarding a steel door.

While your equipment is meager, it's up to the task. Whether it's due to the conditions of the world, or the proximity of the diviner's altar, the green dragon is severely weakened. Avoid its flame breath and spinning attacks and score hits between its attacks. When it falls, it leaves behind a seed of life.

Bonus: Broken Branches, Healing Cream, Seed of Life

There are three chests out in the open inside the hermitage. Open them all to get healing cream (x5), broken branch (x20), and a seed of life.

Bonus: Blue Goo, Coarse Cloth, Gold Ring

The three hidden chests are behind ash blocks, not far from the evil idol closest to the entrance of the hermitage. Get behind the evil idol, then look for an incomplete ash block wall between two sconces. The chest with coarse cloth (x3) is there by itself. Go farther west and smash through a solid ash wall to reach treasure chests holding a splat of blue goo (x10) and a gold ring.

The diviner's altar is behind the doors, along with a final note. Add the diviner's altar to your inventory. Hold off on making holy water since it will take up what little inventory space you have left.

Return to Myrlund and set down the diviner's altar near the water. Use it to create holy water and talk to Myrlund, who rewards your efforts with a seed of life.

THE PRINCESS AND DARK SKELETONS

Use holy water on the statue to restore the Princess. Talk to the Princess and Myrlund, who senses great evil approaching. Before you initiate the upcoming battle, test out the holy water's full capabilities. Move away from the base and use the holy water, which heals the surrounding land. The resources are limited here, but the next area is full of materials to uncover.

When you speak with Myrlund again, it begins a brief battle against three dark skeletons. Don't expect any help during the battle; however, the dark skeletons approach individually, so you shouldn't need help anyway. Driving off the attack earns you the blue teleportal. Sleep to experience a dream, then go through the blue teleportal.

Bonus: Cursed Items, Ring of Criticality

East and slightly south of Myrlund's camp is a door with a sign on it that reads "Tantegel Security." You need improved weapons to break down the barrier to get inside.

After acquiring improved weapons, return to this location and descend the stairs. The skeletons in the area drop the keys you need to open the doors to reach the treasure chests. Smash through crumbled blocks to reach additional rooms. Knight enemies of different varieties are the final guards for the treasure chests.

The equipment found here (sword of ruin, Thanatos' shield, and wailer's mail) is cursed. If you wear it, you can only remove it with Sheen salts, which destroys the equipment. The ring of criticality is not cursed, and is found on the lowest level. Defeat the knight aberrant in the throne room to obtain the sword of ruin, which you need to complete a challenge.

INVASION PREPARATION

The castle ruins are west of the blue teleporter. Use holy water to restore the land as you travel. Inside the ruins are two chests next to a bed that should be a welcome sight. Make room in your inventory, then visit the mason's workstation.

Make a giant mallet, which allows for more raw material gathering, then a stone sword to boost your attack, and a cookfire. You can return to Myrlund to replenish your hunger meter but it's more convenient to carry your own food, which will be mostly fried frogstool and frogs from fishing.

Bonus: World Map

A treasure chest on the west wall inside the castle has the world map.

Holy Water Conversions

When used, holy water restores the surrounding land to its original state. Use the following images to see what cursed items and blocks become after being exposed to holy water.

Bloodstone to clay

Ash to earth

Bonestone to coal

Dragonstone to iron

Frogstool to marshroom

Septic shrub to medicinal shrub

Shadowgrass to grass

Twisted tree to plumberry tree

Horn to plumberry sapling

Bones to milkblossom

Dragon bones to tree stump

Infernal ivy to ivy

Blackened branch to branch

The Banner of Hope is in the stronghold to the south, but you won't get to it while swinging a stick or club and wearing cloth. Scour the land for coal and iron. Search the caves lining the north shore of Tantegel Moor, where you can find veins of gold and silver.

Bonus: Seed of Life, Shrooms-on-a-Stick

Caves and crevices dot the mountains dominating the northern coastline of Tantegel Moor. Treasure chests will be in two of these spots (the location is random). One has shrooms-on-a-stick (x10) and the other is a mimic that drops a seed of life when destroyed.

Bonus: Fried Frog Meat

West from the castle, on the western shore of Tantegel Moor, climb the ash and bloodstone tower to reach a treasure chest, with fried frog meat (x5) inside, at the top.

Attack monsters for the remaining raw materials you need. Build a colossal coffer as soon as possible, so you aren't running back and forth to empty your inventory. With some time and patience, you should be clad in steel from head to toe. To test out your new gear, investigate the nearby monster camps.

Bonus: Rocks

Go south from the castle to an enemy camp. Defeat the two dark skeletons and a legerdeman to open the treasure chest, which holds rock (x20).

Bonus: Seed of Life

The camp northwest of the castle has a knight abhorrent guard. When it's defeated, the treasure chest unlocks. Get the seed of life from inside.

Bonus: Gold

A knight abhorrent and two legerdemens garrison the camp far to the southwest. Eliminating them opens the treasure chest inside the camp. Claim the gold (x3) for your own.

Working Through the Night

Until you get the Banner of Hope, your nights should be clear of ghostly attackers. However, once the Banner of Hope is in place, rockbombs join the ghosts and geists. One exploding rockbomb can devastate a large portion of your castle. If you see a rockbomb approaching, pull it a safe distance away from your home.

RECLAIM THE BANNER OF HOPE

When you're confident in your equipment, head south to the stronghold, which the monsters brazenly named New Tantegel Castle. Ignore the warnings and head inside. Never rush ahead when there are still enemies around. You can engage a single enemy, while leaving behind others, if you carefully creep just into its line of sight and duck back quickly.

In order to obtain the Banner of Hope, you must defeat eleven total enemies (tracked by a counter on the screen). Three dark skeletons guard the first floor. The second floor has additional dark skeletons and a single knight abhorrent.

A pair of knights abhorrent guard the treasure chests on the third floor, but the chests won't open until after every enemy is down. The toughest battle takes place on the roof where two legerdemens support a troll.

Despite the troll's power, its attacks won't shatter the roof, so you don't need to worry about the terrain changing suddenly. Focus first on the legerdemens since they'll drop much faster than the troll and their attacks come much quicker than the ponderous green monster.

When the final enemy falls, the chests below unlock. Get the Banner of Hope, but don't be in a rush to leave the stronghold. Take a minute to gather lifetime supplies of magic doors and treasure chests. It's not like there are any monsters left to complain about larceny.

Bonus: Stronghold Treasure Chests

The treasure chest on the first floor near the three dark skeletons has iron ingot (x10). The chest in the room lined with draconic columns holds a bench.

The second-floor treasure chest contains fur (x10). Ascend to the third floor, then go outside for a chest with healing cream (x5) in it. This chest is above the castle's entrance. The chest next to the Banner of Hope contains steel sabatons.

REBUILD TANTEGEL CASTLE

Return to the real Tantegel Castle and place the Banner of Hope. Two familiar faces appear, along with a newcomer named Launce. Speak with each of them and they join the base. The Princess does the others one better by handing over a strength ring.

Track down everyone again to learn their first requests for the castle. Myrlund provides a blueprint for a room that will be used to produce the holy water needed to restore the land. The Princess presents blueprints for a throne room that will restore the grandeur of the castle and serve as an inspiration for the people of Tantegel. Launce wants a treasury, to show off cool stuff.

A treasury requires a chest, treasure chests, a colossal coffer, and banners. A colossal coffer should already be in place. Use treasure chests from the monster's castle, then make banners with shot silk obtained from legerdemens. When the room is complete, Launce rewards you with stone (x10).

Place Myrlund's blueprint in the indicated area. If you want to push your base to the edge of the Banner of Hope's range, knock down the existing foundation and wall blocks first. Myrlund's reward is chimaera wing (x5).

The throne is the most involved of the rooms that must be built. You need enough gold and shot silk to build thrones and big bold banners. Legerdemens, the only source of shot silk, usually appear near the monster's stronghold, and to the west of it. Construction of the throne room nets you a seed of life. Completion of these rooms should be enough to satisfy Myrlund's next quest, which is to raise the base to lv. 2. You get another seed of life afterward.

A NEW ARRIVAL HERALDS AN ATTACK

Speak with the freshly arrived Trystian at the Banner of Hope. He shares his tale before joining Launce in guarding the castle. Speak with Myrlund to begin your first defensive action in the castle.

The initial phase is eight bloody hands, followed by a pair of vis magers. Before the second phase begins, the Dragonlord displays his power by removing your access to items temporarily. He then sends two knights abhorrent to attack. When the knights fall, you're rewarded with the red teleportal.

RESCUE THE SAGES: ROLLO

Speak with the Princess, who provides a red naviglobe and reveals that three sages were to arrive in Tanteigel, but problems have arisen. Trystian, Launce, and Myrlund have additional information and each offers a quest to retrieve a sage. The sages can be retrieved in any order, or all at once. They're covered individually here in case you become stuck at a particular one before looking for help.

TROPHIES AND
BONUS ITEMS

Bonus: Chimaera Wings, Seed of Life

Two treasure chests will appear inside random caves. One has chimaera wing (x5), and the other a seed of life.

Bonus: Seed of Life from a Mimic

A treasure chest that appears in a random location in the mountains on the north half of the island is actually a mimic. Kill it and it will drop a seed of life.

Myrlund marks the sage's location on your compass. Before you travel through the red teleportal, put a wrecking ball in your inventory if you have one, or take along the mason's workstation if you don't have a wrecking ball.

Talk to Rollo at the destination, which is also marked with a Dragonlord's standard. Rollo isn't visible, but he is able to explain the situation. Place a wrecking ball near the orichalcum vein to free the mayor of Cantlin from his stone confines.

The explosion draws the attention of a king slime, known as His Wobbliness. Defeat the giant blue blob, then check on Rollo. Talk to the smaller slime, which returns the Ancient Emblem. Show the legendary item to Rollo, who then agrees to accompany you to Tantegel Castle. When Rollo joins the castle, he presents you with spike trap (x30) and evil idol (x2). Myrlund adds chimaera wing (x5).

RESCUE THE SAGES: ELLE

Launce sends you in search of Elle, who's in the poison swamp area in the north. She provides medicinal herb (x5), antidotal herb (x5), Tingle tablet (x5), and Defuddle drops (x5). To retrieve the Staff of Rain, you must destroy all the beastly burrows on the nearby hill.

Each burrow has low-health protectors that spawn in large numbers. The lowest burrow summons bodkin fletchers who use poison darts. The next level has two burrows of killerpillars, which sometimes inflict paralysis. The next ledge has a single burrow inhabited by bewarewolves that employ claw attacks that may cause confusion.

Bonus: New Recruit

While you're exploring the caves in the poison swamp region of the island, watch for a speech bubble originating from behind a wall. It's a trapped drohl who's looking for acceptance. Speak to him a few times and lead him back to the base and you get a new recruit for the castle.

The highest ledge has three beastly burrows. Each burrow spawns one of the types of enemies you already faced. If you have any leftover wrecking balls, this is a good spot to put them to use. When all three burrows are destroyed, a large handsome crab appears. Clear out any remaining summoned enemies before tackling the crab. It's essentially a large version of a handsome crab with one extra ability. When it throws up its claws, it summons a standard-sized handsome crab to attack you.

Collect the Staff of Rain from where the handsome crab dropped it and carry it down to Elle. Elle joins the party and asks you to lead her to Tantegel Castle. Once there, speak with her, and she joins the castle and gifts you medicinal herb (x20). Lance chips in medicinal herb (x10) as well.

RESCUE THE SAGES: BARBELLA

Add divine daggers to your inventory, then accept Trystian's quest. He sends you through the red teleportal, then southeast to a bridge in a lava-covered area.

Ascend the stairs to begin the challenge. Speaking with Barbella is optional. There are nine enemies, many of which are out of melee range. Take down the enemies on the same bridge as Barbella. Use the existing walls as a shield from the energy blasts coming from the vis magers and lunatics. Move the magic cannon into position to blast the enemies on the sides. The bridges are all sturdy enough to withstand blasts from the cannon, so you don't need to worry about creating gaps on your bridge.

Bonus: Steel Ingot, Seed of Life

Both north and south of where you find Barbella, there's a treasure chest inside a building made from resilient stone blocks atop an earthen tower. You must use either a magic cannon or wrecking ball to get at the chests inside. The north tower holds a seed of life; the south tower has steel ingot (x5).

Talk to Barbella, which causes the quest marker to move. The building ahead is now open. When you try to open the chest, it becomes a mimic and five dark skeletons appear. Defeat the monsters to obtain the Sunstone.

Return to the castle, where Barbella becomes a resident after she gives you a magic cannon and the Bashmobile. Trystian rewards you with iron ingot (x5). When all three sages are safely in the castle with their legendary items, the Princess awards you a seed of life.

CASTLE EXPANSION

With all the new arrivals, the castle is starting to feel cramped. Talk to Elle, who shares the secret of making Goddess statues and a holy hostel blueprint that she asks to have built. The finished room provides beds to sleep in and a place for residents to prepare food. When you're done, Elle rewards you with ruby (x2) and the recipe for Yggdrasil essence.

Trystian asks for a special bedroom for the Princess. To make a princess's bedroom, you need a lady sign, a princess-sized bed, chic chair, any flower, and candelabrum. When the room is complete, your reward is chimaera wing (x10).

FORGING LEGENDARY EQUIPMENT

Barbella and Rollo share the secrets of making the legendary Sword of Kings and auroral armour when you speak with them. In order to make the legendary equipment, you must mine gold, rubies, zenithium, and orichalcum from the caves beyond the red teleportal.

A magic cannon works for mining zenithium, but orichalcum requires wrecking balls. Get eight zenithium ore while you're out, otherwise you'll be back again later. The reward for crafting the Sword of Kings is silver (x2). For the auroral armour, you receive gold and the recipe for the hero's shield.

Myrlund asks you to improve the castle to lv. 3, which you likely have reached just through the recent additions. He gives you a seed of life when it's accomplished.

FACING THE KING OF DARKNESS

Talk to Myrlund again and he hands you the keystone. He marks the location of the prismatic crystal your compass and you learn how to make the ultimate key.

Craft the key at the diviner's altar (if you need a float-o-copper, get it from a troll), then travel through the red teleportal.

The marker leads you to a locked door, which requires the ultimate key. The King of Darkness is on the other side of the door and the battle against him begins immediately. His primary attacks are an overhead chop, a spinning slash (which knocks you away), and a twisting jump attack. All these attacks start out slow, providing plenty of time to avoid them. Sometimes, his attack fails and he falls to a sitting position.

When the King of Darkness sheathes his sword, he becomes invulnerable and summons zero, one, or two raving lunatics to aid him. They remain in place after being summoned and you need to eliminate them quickly. He continues to summon them throughout the fight and you don't want to deal with more than two at a time.

They remain in place after being summoned and you need to eliminate them quickly. He continues to summon them throughout the fight and you don't want to deal with more than two at a time.

The fight concludes just before the King of Darkness loses all his health. He runs away, leaving you to claim the prismatic crystal from the

ASSAULTS WITH GIANT LEADERS

Talk to the Princess to receive the Sanctum blueprints and learn how to make the ancient altar from the legendary items delivered by the sages. Craft the Rainbow Drop, which allows you to teleport to the Dragonlord's island fortress. After creating the Rainbow Drop, the Princess gives you scare root (x2), the final component you need to make Yggdrasil essence.

The last two events to complete before traveling to the Dragonlord's island are assaults led by enemies capable of demolishing your castle. Save now, before you speak with the Princess, if you would rather restart a battle than restart construction on your castle.

If you aren't concerned about your castle, break out the magic cannon for the next two attacks. Evil idols can be helpful and won't damage the surrounding area. Set up everything outside the south wall, as that's where the enemy forces muster.

Respond YES to the Princess to start the attack. The first phase is two knights abhorrent, then two cosmic chimaeras, and then another two knights abhorrent. The next phase is another pair of knights abhorrent, then two cosmic chimaeras, and finally the leader, gigantes. Gigantes will demolish the castle and its residents with the same devastating blow, so try to keep it away from the walls while you slowly chip away at its health.

Answer the Princess with YES again to start the final assault on the castle. The initial phase is two pairs of knights abhorrent supported by two vis magers. The residents tend to focus on enemies that arrive first, so you should jump on the vis magers when they appear. The second phase starts out with one pair each of knights abhorrent and vis magers, then turns dangerous when a dread dragon appears. The dread dragon uses the spin and fire breath attacks you've encountered in dragons before, but dread dragons actually move while fighting. Its spin move will destroy people and building blocks with equal ease. If it gets inside your castle, expect to lose a few of your rooms.

When the final enemy falls, you earn a seed of life. Now, the only task left to undertake is the Dragonlord's island. Speak to the Princess and use the Rainbow Drop to teleport there.

STORM THE CASTLE

Before you leave, put the diviner's altar where you can pull it out if necessary. You'll need it to complete one of the challenges, and there's an additional scare root found in a chest that will allow you to craft another Yggdrasil essence. Cook any food that provides statistical bonuses, and load up on healing items.

You can fight through the patrolling enemies, or use the mountain to bypass the dread dragons and vis magers. There aren't many bonus items to collect, and you can always descend from the mountain at the appropriate spots.

Bonus: Seed of Life

The gatehouse in the middle of the path to the castle has a chest with a seed of life inside. It's also guarded by a knight abhorrent and vis mager.

The blocks of the castle's interior are more powerful than your weapons. You must follow the path of broken-down gates and hallways. A dread dragon is behind the steel doors that open into the throne room. It might have a blast of fire breath waiting for you when the door opens, so be ready to dodge.

Bonus: Medicinal Herbs

After defeating a few knights abhorrent, and walking past a dread dragon still behind a gate, look for medicinal herb (x3) in a treasure chest.

Bonus: Ruby of Protection, Scare Root

After defeating the dread dragon, descend the steps to get a ruby of protection from the treasure chest. Equip it. Now. The chest on the opposite end of the room has a scare root.

Examine the dragon throne, then investigate the wall behind it. Break through the weaker blocks and follow the hall to the Dragonlord's true throne room.

BOSS FIGHT: THE DRAGONLORD (HUMAN)

To kick off the fight, the Dragonlord hides behind a magic shield and sends out duplicates. Other hazards in the room include the evil idols (which you can knock out quickly with a hammer) and orbs summoned by the Dragonlord that send out fiery blasts you must avoid. He also sends out blasts from his energy screen. In addition, he attempts to curse you from time to time, blocking out your access to items.

The smaller duplicates are strictly melee fighters whose only strength comes from numbers. The larger duplicates charge up a powerful dash attack. To avoid the dash attack, try moving to a higher spot (the top of the steps, for example), then counterattack. If you're comfortable in the Bashmobile, use it here to fight the duplicates. However you eliminate them, their numbers are tracked in the lower corner of the screen.

When the last duplicate falls, the field around the Dragonlord dissipates and he's vulnerable to attack. Hurry to the throne and pour on the damage.

If you survive two to three more rounds of eliminating duplicates, you will defeat the Dragonlord's human form. Before you remove that last tick of health, you should consume any remaining seeds of life in your inventory. If you're trying for the challenge, this is your last chance to stash the legendary equipment into the colossal coffer.

Don't worry if this battle used up every Yggdrasil essence you were able to craft. There's one more battle ahead, but no items will carry over.

The Dragonlord pauses long enough to pose questions to you. Respond NO to the first to begin the battle against the Dragonlord's true form. (Note that responding YES twice results in death, and you start again from your last game save.) All your items, except any legendary equipment, are removed.

BOSS FIGHT: THE DRAGONLORD (TRUE FORM)

Avoid the Dragonlord's initial bite attempt, but don't try any counterattacks until after Rubiss sends the first friend to assist you. Some provide food and various less helpful items, but the items provided by others are the keys to defeating the Dragonlord.

Gerontius provides healing items, and the occasional (and much-appreciated) Yggdrasil essence. Barbella delivers magic cannons, which are the only way to damage the Dragonlord when he's far away. Use them when the game queries, "How can you attack the Dragonlord from so far away?" Your cannons won't have much of a shelf life. After one or two hits, the Dragonlord will destroy them.

Rollo appears and provides Cantlin shields. When the game poses the question, "How can you block the Dragonlord's bite?" place a Cantlin shield in front of, and facing, the Dragonlord. Biting the shield stuns him long enough for you to get in a few hits with a melee weapon.

Magnus provides stone blocks, which get put to use when the game prompts you to build a tower of blocks to climb to safety. Don't bother with a tower. Hold the Aim Below/Look Down button, jump, and while still in the air, set a block directly underneath yourself. Repeat the process in rapid succession to get above the Dragonlord's sweeping breath attack with time to spare.

There is no defense against the Dragonlord's shadowy breath and lobbed shadow ball attacks other than avoiding them. When the Dragonlord hops away from the bridge, it either charges dark energy to lob a shadow ball or summons minions (and then charges dark energy).

Watch the counter in the corner to see how many minions you must defeat. The summoned enemies become more powerful as the Dragonlord's health decreases. After he summons two dragons, he won't summon any additional reinforcements.

Manage your resources carefully. Don't panic and place an incorrect item just because your health is low, or you failed to avoid an incoming hit. Losing an item like a magic cannon will extend the battle, which rarely works out in your favour. When the Dragonlord is nearly defeated, you'll lose some of the helpful messages the game provides. They simply inform you of the Dragonlord's situation. Press home the attack and restore clear skies to Alefgard!

After the battle, return to Tantegel Castle. Save if you need to complete challenges but don't want to battle the Dragonlord again. Speak with the Princess, then everyone else. Finally, speak to the Princess again. Congratulations! Now get to building your base in free play.

Terra Incognita Reward: can build legendary items of Erdrick

RAISE BASE LEVEL TO 4

Terra Incognita Reward: can build superior crafting stations

DEFEAT DRAGONLORD WITHOUT LEGENDRY WEAPONS

Terra Incognita Reward: can build rings of criticality

Legendary weapons mean auroral armour and hero's shield. It's safe to use these weapons during the battle against the Dragonlord's human form, but you must stash them in the colossal coffer before that fight ends.

GIVE VERDANT VISION TO KING SLIME

Terra Incognita Reward: can build novelty items

There are three slimes curious about flowers found throughout this chapter. Each slime appears atop a rock formation that resembles a slime. Before you can begin working on this challenge, you need to add a shovel to your equipment.

On the initial world, a slime is south of the temporary camp you used after first meeting Myrlund. Show him a milkblossom.

After arriving in Tantegel Moor, go northwest of the castle where a she-slime wants to see a daffodaisy. To get a daffodaisy, you must plant a daffodaisy bud that's dropped by a she-slime, then dig it up with the shovel.

The third slime is beyond the red teleportal. The metal slime northeast of the teleportal wants to see a coralily. You need to go after drackies until one drops a coralily bud that you can plant and pull up with the shovel.

Carry the collected visions, along with the diviner's altar, one milkblossom, one daffodaisy, and one coralily with you to the Dragonlord's island. Go far to the south up in the mountains to look for the king slime. Talk to the king slime to learn the recipe for verdant vision. Give the verdant vision to the king slime, then speak with him again to get gungerbread (x3).

FIND SWORD OF RUIN

Terra Incognita Reward: can build forbidden equipment in Terra Incognita

The sword of ruin is one of the cursed items uncovered in the underground vault behind the Tantegel Security sign. It's on the lowest level, inside a treasure chest.

FREE PLAY

Free Play is for building and sharing what has been built. Every recipe you learned while playing through Story Mode becomes available in Free Play, and Terra Incognita has a number of recipes unique to it.

BANNER OF HOPE

The Banner of Hope on Terra Incognita has new commands. You still use it to save your progress, and it's where you return when you use a chimaera wing. The new commands are to travel to Terra Gladiatoria, since there's no teleportal to it; Reset Island, which returns one of the islands beyond the teleportals to its original state; and Resident's Register, which allows you to see a full list of residents, set certain residents as favourites, and summon residents to the Banner of Hope.

SIX ISLANDS

Terra Incognita serves as your base of operations. It's free of enemies and has adequate resources to start your base and adventuring. Completing Story Mode chapters opens a teleportal that provides access to new islands. The four unlocked islands are filled with monsters and additional raw materials that allow you to expand your base on Terra Incognita.

COMPLETE...

Chapter 1: Cantlin
Chapter 2: Rimuldar
Chapter 3: Kol and Galenholm
Final Chapter: Tantegetl

TO OPEN...

Terra Australis
Terra Orientalis
Terra Borealis
Terra Occidentalis

The sixth island, Terra Gladiatoria, serves as a proving ground. When you find blank tickets, take them to Terra Gladiatoria and turn them into battle tickets at the forbidden altar. Use the tickets to begin battles against a set number of enemies. There's more information about each island on the following pages.

SHARING WHAT IS BUILT

Building in Free Play works exactly the same as it does in Story Mode. The big change is the ability to share what you build. Sharing stones allow you to share your creations with your friends. Summoning stones allow you to summon the creations of other players. Books near each of the already-placed stones on your home island have more information.

POTENTIAL RESIDENTS

Your base on Terra Incognita attracts residents, and now even monsters want to live with you. An NPC appears at your Banner of Hope after you use a chimaera wing. You must wait three in-game days before you can earn another NPC in this fashion. The NPC that appears is random, and you may even get duplicate monster residents.

There are fewer potential human residents, but they take advantage of the bonuses earned through the creation of rooms. They switch to upgraded equipment, gain additional health, and create items and leave them in chests.

RECIPES IN TERRA INCOGNITA

Most of the recipes you learn during Story Mode become unlocked in Free Play when you complete a chapter. Some are unlocked from completing challenges in chapters. Eventually, every recipe that isn't tied directly to the story (e.g. Sunstone, Staff of Rain) becomes available for Free Play.

RECIPES UNLOCKED VIA CHAPTER CHALLENGE

The recipes unlocked through chapter challenges provide access to Material (listed in Appendix II), Decorations (listed in Appendix III), and Equipment (listed in Appendix IV). There are a handful of recipes in Free Play that allow you to create equipment that doesn't appear anywhere in Story Mode.

The new clothing unlocked from the Cantlin challenge provides nostalgic wardrobe options. Fire blades add a fireball to your spinning attack technique. The fireball acts the same as a thrown item (such as Sizz shot), but you still follow through with the spinning attack. Kaboom shot acts like a shot from a cannon without the wait for recharge.

The item with the biggest impact to your building choices is the Hammer of the Builder. The Hammer of the Builder is powerful enough to remove any type of block from the environment and keep it intact, which means you can now build with veins. You could build a home from zenithium blocks with orichalcum accents!

RAW MATERIALS—AN OVERVIEW

Use the following table to track down the islands you need to visit when you need a specific raw material.

Fishing Item requires fishing rod to obtain. For more details, check out Appendix VII: Fishing.

Drop Item comes from a defeated enemy. Drops are included with the enemy summary at the start of each island section.

A BONUS MATERIALS AND DECORATIONS

You start out next to a Banner of Hope, mason's workstation, and a colour wheel. A nearby island in the lake has building material and decorations that are free for you to use.

B UNDER A TREE

With a subtle hint from the game, dig under the tree on the island with the bonus building material to uncover a treasure chest with a seed of life inside.

C MOUNTAIN TREASURE CHESTS

Climb the mountains west of the Banner of Hope. Three pairs of treasure chests are found in hollows on top of the mountains. One chest from each pair has wood (x30). The other chest holds one or two seeds of life.

D CASTLE WALL BLOCKS

Break through the castle wall blocks to reach a treasure chest. There's a seed of life inside.

E UNDER THE TERRA OCCIDENTALIS TELEPORTAL

The earthen support under the teleportal to Terra Occidentalis is broken up by a line of ivy. Clear out the ivy to reach two treasure chests. One contains seed of life (x3); the other has healing cream (x10).

LOCATIONS OF INTEREST

A MOUNTAIN TUNNEL SYSTEM CHESTS

A series of cave mouths and tunnels runs through this range of mountains. Explore them thoroughly for loads of coal, copper, and iron. There are also three treasure chests in various locations containing a blank ticket, flagstone (x50), and stone (x15).

B MASON'S WORKSTATION IN THE WILD

An extra mason's workstation has been provided here. Use it to create additional healing items, to replace any equipment that has broken, or to use up raw materials filling your inventory if you haven't built a colossal closet yet.

C COMBAT FOR A TREASURE CHEST

Defeat two skeletons and a prestidigitator to unlock a treasure chest with medicinal herb (x10) inside.

D BEDROOM BONUSES

Loot bedroom furniture from this damaged building partially covered in sand.

E FLOATING TREASURE CHEST 1

North of a string of orichalcum veins, there's a platform floating high above the ground. Build a bridge to it from a nearby ledge to get orichalcum (x10) inside the chest.

F FLOATING TREASURE CHEST 2

This is another treasure chest on a floating platform. The contents of this chest are rockbomb shard (x15).

G GOLEM-GUARDED GOODIES

A large golem (colored like the boss golem) blocks your access to two treasure chests. If your weapons aren't up to task and do no damage, hunt down enough rockbombs to build wrecking balls. The treasure chests contain steel ingot (x15) and golemite (x15).

A UNSULLIED EARTH PUZZLE

Place any type of blocks into the poisoned water surrounding the chest until all the water is gone. Carefully knock out the blocks you just placed (don't let any water seep back into the channel around the chest), then refill them with earth blocks. The treasure chest opens and allows you access to daffodaisy bud (x25).

B COLUMN PLACEMENT PUZZLE

Move the column that's off by itself and place it to match the other three columns around the treasure chest. Collect wood (x15) after the chest unlocks.

C PLATFORM FIGHT 1

Ascend the ladder to the top of the wooden platform where you fight two bewarewolves and a she-slime. If the monsters block the ladder so you can't get up, run to a side (while still on the ground), then back to the ladder and up quickly. The treasure chest has ladder (x30) inside.

D PLATFORM FIGHT 2

The situation is the same as the first fight, but the enemies this time are two drackolytes and a single bewarewolf. Your reward is wooden floor (x50).

E CARPENTER'S WORKSTATION LOCATION

There's a carpenter's workstation atop a palm lumber tower at this location. If you have two extra ladder segments, place them at the base of the column with the rest of the ladder to complete it.

F A DROHL ISLAND BATTLE

Open the chest to get blank ticket (x3) and broken branch (x4). Four drohl diabolists spawn when you open the chest.

G SPECIAL VEIN BONUS LOCATION

H POISON POOL FIGHT

When you open the treasure chest here, three walking corpses spawn to defend it. The loot inside the chest is chimaera wing (x5).

I TIMBERED WALL TOWER

The timbered tower has a handful of functional and decorative items inside and on top of it.

J LOCKED VAULT

The blocks of this brick building are indestructible, and the door is locked. Return here with a key to gain access to a pair of treasure chests and their contents, faerie fertiliser (x15) and holyhock seed (x5).

K CRAFTING STATIONS AND BUILDING BLOCKS

If you need to replace your equipment, visit this corner of Terra Orientalis for your crafting needs. There's both a mason's workstation and a forge next to a pile of various building blocks.

L WALLED COMPOUND

A multi-level house has fallen into disrepair and is now inhabited by eleven walking corpses. The three treasure chests inside won't open until all eleven monsters are vanquished. The chest on the top floor (in the room with the princess-sized bed) has blank ticket (x4). The chest out on the top-floor balcony (watch your step!) has stone (x15). The chest on the ground next to the brick barbecue contains liquid silver (x15).

A DRAGON BONES SWAP

Search the area for four piles of dragon bones, and carry them to the treasure chest's location. Remove the piles of bones already in place, then arrange the dragon bones so the skull rests on the dark squares. When all four dragon skeletons are placed, open the chest and collect blank ticket (x3).

B HOT WATER CRYSTALS

There are three hot water crystals inside the chalk formation. If you don't have the recipe yet, visit this location so you can build proper public baths.

C STRAW FLOOR BLOCK PUZZLE

You must place four straw blocks on the empty purple flagstone square in the correct configuration. Watch for the blue flash that indicates you accurately placed a block. It flashes for each block, not just when the puzzle is complete. You're rewarded with sloped track (x30).

D DEFEAT THE FLAMING HAND

The flaming hand should be a familiar encounter. You need weapons that inflict magic damage, or a magic cannon, to win the fight. After defeating the hand, the treasure chest with brick (x50) inside is unlocked.

E A TOASTY CAMPSITE

This ice structure needs just a few blocks and a door to become a convenient sleeping area. A bed and cookfire are already in place.

F A GIGANTES ENCOUNTER

If you want to test your combat prowess, tackle the gigantes. There's no reward for defeating this monster, except the satisfaction of taking down a powerful enemy. And possibly a meaty bone.

G ROTATE ROUND THE COLUMN

Follow the sign's instruction and move every object around the brick column 90 degrees. The treasure chest opens, allowing you to collect power crystal (x15).

H POWIE YOWIE PUNCHOUT

Defeat four powie yowies to unlock a pair of treasure chests. One holds Crack shot (x30) and the other Sizz shot (x30).

I DEFEAT THE FROZEN HAND

Another familiar battle—only magic-based weaponry or the magic cannon can damage the frozen hand. The reward for defeating the frozen hand is a curious contraption, which is in an underwater treasure chest.

G A MINER'S PARADISE

There's a tunnel that runs under the perimeter of the northwestern edge of Terra Borealis that's filled ("filled" is an understatement) with silver, gold, and zenithium.

LOCATIONS OF INTEREST

A SLIMES' TREASURE 1

When you open the treasure chest (and get holy water (x10) from inside), four slimes appear. Three of them attack; the metal slime remains more interested in running than sticking around for the fight.

B CURSED LOCATION

Two treasure chests with silvery sludge are hidden inside a floating cluster of cursed blocks. The clusters are random, but you should end up with an amazing supply of coal and iron from searching.

C SLIMES' TREASURE 2

This is another treasure chest that spawns slimes when opened. This time you take blank ticket (x2) as your prize.

D MATCH THE BLOCKS 1

To unlock the treasure chest, you must recreate on the right exactly what is on the left. You need a crate, a tattered banner, earth, poisonous peat, ash, bloodstone, chalk, sand, and sandstone. You get blank ticket (x4) from the now-unlocked chest.

F DOUBLE JUMP TO TROLL ISLAND

To reach the island and the treasure chest at the top of it, you need the accessory talaria, which allows you to double jump. Build a platform to get as far over the water as possible, then double jump to reach the island. The chest has blank ticket (x4).

F MATCH THE BLOCKS 2

To obtain chimaera feather (x5) from the treasure chest, arrange the blue flagstone, brazier, brick wall, castle tile, chalk, earth, flagstone, sand, straw floor, and wooden floor to match what's already at the site.

G CHIMAERA IN A CAVE CONFLICT

Look for a large cave entrance in the mountainside. Follow the tunnel back to a treasure chest that has two cosmic chimaera guardians. When they're eliminated, the chest opens, and you can collect the castle wall (x50) from it.

L SHOULD SAIL SOMEDAY

While there are no chests here, the variety of what's available is staggering. This is likely the last area you'll reach, and the journey is certainly worth the effort. There are crafting stations, furniture, roof tiles, doors, and more. And then there's a half-built ship just sitting there for you explore.

TERRA GLADIATORIA

Terra Gladiatoria is an island you visit when you want a tougher fight against groups of monsters. The battles on Terra Gladiatoria are structured like the assaults on your bases in Story Mode. You can build up the island's central structure and add defensive measures to help your battles. When you're ready to return to Terra Incognita, use a chimaera wing or the seal of Erdrick.

APPENDIX I: RAW MATERIALS

Raw materials are found while exploring the world; there is no way to make them. The most common methods of acquiring materials are defeating monsters, smashing blocks, and cutting down plants. Check the How Acquired column closely, as many raw materials are found in more than one way.

ALPHABETICAL LISTING

The tables on the following pages divide raw materials into groups that share certain characteristics, such as how they're acquired. Use this listing to find the table with the material you need. Decorative material may be required in building certain rooms, which are not covered here. Turn to the pages of Appendix V: Rooms for additional information.

NAME		FOUND IN TABLE	USED FOR
Bewarewolf pelt		Material from Enemies	Chain mail
Big rock		Decorative Material	—
Bigonia		Decorative Material	—
Bigonia leaf		Material from Plants	Comfy sofa, filter fountain, sautéed salmon

Blighted branch		Decorative Material	—
Blue goo		Material from Enemies	Blue flagstone, forbidden altar, herbalist's cauldron, plant pot, pot, bonfire, candelabrum, candlestick, gentleman sign, torch, magic dye, colossal coffer, wayfarer's clothes

Water		Material from Other Sources	Water crystal
Wheat		Material from Plants	Baguette, bouillabaisse, gingerbread, hearty cream cake, pancakes, porridge, super salad, bread, wheat seed
White petals		Material from Plants	Healing cream, Tingle tablet, Yggdrasil essence, faerie fertiliser
Whopping needle		Material from Enemies	Powie yowie rug, stuffed hammerhead
Witchgrass		Decorative Material	—
Yellow petals		Material from Plants	Defuddle drops
Zenithium		Material from Blocks	Ancient altar, diviner's altar, auroral armour, hero's shield, gourmand's girdle

NOVELTY ITEMS

The following items have no practical use, so they do not appear in the alphabetical listing.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Architects Exposed		Fishing	A special-interest periodical with an especially interesting pull-out section.
Welly		Fishing	A damp and dilapidated wellington boot with the sole flopping off.

MATERIAL FROM ENEMIES

The enemies you defeat in battle sometimes leave behind an item. Most enemies have two possible items they drop, so you may need to hunt down a few before you get the item you desire.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Bewarewolf pelt		Drop (tearwolf)	A hide of untied hair that once belonged on a bewarewolf's back.
Blue goo		Drop (slime)	An incendiary ooze with a brilliant blue hue.
Celestial skein		Drop (gargoyle)	A spool of heaven-sent string within which water flows.
Chimaera feather		Drop (chimaera, cosmic chimaera, hocus chimaera, ghost, fightgeist)	A feather filled with an unearthly energy.
Coarse cloth		Drop (skeleton, skeleton scrapper, skeleton soldier, dark skeleton)	An old roll of musty and moth-eaten material.
Confusing claw		Drop (scarewolf)	A tapering talon imbued with a mind-bending toxin.
Crab claw		Drop (crabid, crabber dabber doo, handsome crab)	A prodigious pincer with a serrated inner edge.
Dracky butter		drop (drackyma)	A rich and creamy spread of uncertain origins.
Face guard fragment		Drop (knight errant, knight aberrant)	A bit of body armour broken off a metal-plated monster.
Finest fur		Drop (spiked hare)	A soft and shiny skin of superior quality.
Flame orb		Drop (dancing flame, Crack shot required)	The combustible core of a fiery fiend.
Float-o-copper		Drop (troll)	A mysterious mass of metal that changes shape when exposed to magic.
Frost orb		Drop (frostburn, Sizz shot required)	The ice-cold core of a boreal beast.
Fur		Drop (hammerhood, brownie, tearwolf)	The thick and hairy hide of a thick and hairy monster.
Harelain steak		Drop (spiked hare)	A chunky chop of mouth-watering monster meat.
Meat		Drop (bunicorn)	Marbled monster meat with a nice balance between fat and lean.
Meaty bone		Drop (troll, death scorpion, dread dragon, gigantes)	A big bit of meat with a bone through it.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Mechrochip		Drop (hunter mech, killing machine)	A mysterious microprocessor that controls a mechanical monster's movements.
Monster egg		Drop (ghost, fightgeist, spitegeist, chimaera, cosmic chimaera, hocus chimaera)	A massive, mottled egg laid by a monster.
Newt		Drop (vis mager)	An air-dried amphibian with soot-black skin.
Orange oil		Drop (she-slime)	A greasy, golden goo that burns at high temperatures.
Paralystinger		Drop (killerpillar)	A stunning stinger that once topped a killerpillar's tail.
Powie yowie fur		Drop (powie yowie)	The snow-white hide of a huge, hairy horror.
Rockbomb shard		Drop (rockbomb)	A red-hot rock expelled by an exploding rockbomb.
Rusty nuggets		Drop (skeleton scrapper, skeleton soldier)	Chocolate-coloured chunks of oxidised iron.
Scorpion horn		Drop (iron scorpion)	The heavy, honed horn of an armoured arachnid.
Shot silk		Drop (legerdeman)	Finely woven fabric that feels soft and silky to the touch.
Silvery sludge		Drop (metal slime) Fishing	Sticky, slimy metal sourced from a shiny metal slime.
Sludgestone		Drop (bloody hand)	A gluey gobbet of highly flammable matter.
Sticky liquid		Drop (drohl drone, drohl diabolist)	A poisonous purple fluid that's tacky to the touch.
Whopping needle		Drop (hammerhood)	A knitting needle in the shape of a hammerhood's hammer.

MATERIAL FROM PLANTS

Digging up a plant and attacking the same plant sometimes produce different items. Plants are found in every environment, no matter how harsh and water-starved it is.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Bigonia leaf		Attack bigonia plants	The vast, veiny leaf of a plant that grows only in hot and humid places.
Butterbeans		Attack or dig up with shovel	Small green beans in a small green pod.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Cactus culet		Attack tall cacti	A succulent slice of a succulent.
Cotton		Attack cotton plants	A flyaway flock of fluffy white fibre.
Fibrous frond		Attack fibrous fern plants	A big blade made up of a lot of little leaflets.
Freezia flower		Attack freezia plants	A snow-white flower that can be pulped to make paper.
Grassy leaves		Attack green grass clumps	Long, strong leaves plucked from the stalwort plant.
Medicinal leaf		Attack medicinal shrubs	A leaf that's replete with remedial ingredients.
Pink petals		Attack carolily plants	Peachy petals plucked from the colourful coraliy.
Potato		Attack or dig up with shovel	An ugly but edible root that's surprisingly scrumptious.
Sandgrass		Attack yellow grass clumps	Torrid tufts plucked from the sandwort plant.
Strong stalks		Attack purple grass clumps	Poisonous purple prongs plucked from the bogwort plant.
Sugar cane		Attack or dig up with shovel	A sweet and sticky syrup exudes from the stalks when they're squashed.
Wheat		Attack or dig up with shovel	Golden grass grains that form a fundamental foodstuff.
White petals		Attack milkblossom plants	Pale petals plucked from the medicinal milkblossom.
Yellow petals		Attack daffodaisy plants	Pretty petals plucked from the distinctive daffodaisy.

EDIBLE MATERIAL

The following items restore your hunger meter when consumed. Save heartfruit when possible; it's used in both cooking and farming.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION	NOTES
Heartfruit		Attack or dig up with shovel	A sweet and slightly sour fruit shaped like a symbol of love.	Fills hunger meter by 10%.
Plumberry		Attack plumberries on the ground	A pretty pink fruit found at the foot of a plumberry tree.	Fills hunger meter by 10%.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION	NOTES
Prickly peach		Attack prickly peach cacti	The fleshy fruit of a cactus that can be eaten as is.	Fills hunger meter by 10%.
Snow cone		Drop (frostburn)	A cone of crushed ice coated in a sticky syrup.	Fills hunger meter by 20%.

MATERIAL FROM BLOCKS

Look for veins of blocks with differently coloured nuggets suspended inside. These tough blocks always break apart when struck with sufficient force (either cannon is a great mining tool, as are wrecking balls), and leave behind the nuggets for you to collect.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Coal		Smash coal veins	A lump of fossilised flora formed over many millennia.
Copper		Smash copper veins	A chunk of malleable metal with a warm orange glow.
Gold		Smash gold veins	A glittering nugget of precious gold.
Iron		Smash iron veins	A nugget of dull grey metal from which many things are made.
Mythril		Smash mythril veins	A lightweight alloy that's stronger than steel.
Orichalcum		Smash orichalcum veins	A mystical metal that glimmers with a golden glow.
Ruby		Smash ruby veins	A crimson crystal that blazes like a burning inferno.
Sapphire		Smash sapphire veins	A sky-blue stone suffused with supernatural energy.
Silver		Smash silver veins	A precious piece of purest silver.

MATERIALS THAT ARE BLOCKS

You can build with the lumber acquired from trees (just like blocks of earth and clay), but it's possible to convert it into wood, which has more applications. Golemite's sole use is in the construction of a vital item in the first chapter.

NAME		SCORE	HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Cedar lumber		5	Attack cedar lumber trees Fishing	A large log of cedar wood that could be used to build a charming chalet.
Golemite		10	Drop (golem (large), wrecking ball required)	A block of bricks that's as diabolically dense as the body of a golem.

NAME		SCORE	HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Palm lumber		5	Attack palm lumber trees Fishing	A large log of palm wood that could be used to build a beautiful beach hut.
Plumberry lumber		5	Attack plumberry trees	A large piece of plumberry wood that could be used to make a lovely log cabin.

MATERIAL FROM OTHER SOURCES

These items come from objects that are tougher than plants, so stronger weapons are required to get at them.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION
Broken branch		Attack branches and dying trees Fishing Drop (bodkin archer, bodkin fletcher)	A gnarled and knotty tree branch with the leaves lopped off.
Curious contraption		Treasure chest Guest reward	A complex configuration of interconnected cogs.
Hot water		Scoop up with bucket	A scoop of spa water that's full of medicinal minerals.
Huge horn		Attack the horns sticking up from the ground	An unbelievably enormous horn that was once on the head of an unknown animal.
Pumice pieces		Smash pumice stones	Small shards of soft white stone.
Pure water		Scoop up with bucket, must be next to filter fountain	A scoop of perfectly pure, crystal clear water.
Scare root		Treasure chest Guest reward	A sinister tuber that shrieks when pulled from the soil.
Stone		Smash large stones (some weapons won't work properly)	A chunk of broken stone.
Water		Scoop up with bucket	A scoop of standing water that isn't safe to drink.

MATERIAL FROM FISHING

The items presented here are unique to fishing and are generally used for cooking. A full listing of what you can catch, and where to catch it, appears in the Fishing Appendix.

NAME		DESCRIPTION
Cod		A sizable saltwater swimmer with silvery scales.
Frog		An aquatic animal with a curiously croaky voice.
Red snapper		A fine-tasting fish with ruby-red scales.

NAME		DESCRIPTION
Salmon		A medium-sized swimmer with distinctive pink flesh.
Sardine		A pocket-sized pilchard that's full of fine bones.
Slime skin		Bright blue skin sloughed off by a growing goo ball.

NAME		DESCRIPTION
Squid		A ten-tentacled marine mollusk with a wibbly-wobbly body.

NAME		DESCRIPTION
Tuna		A supersized finfish that's delicious even when eaten raw.

DECORATIVE MATERIAL

Place items with decorative value inside your base to increase its level. Some materials listed here are used to satisfy the requirements for building specific rooms, instead of being used to build other items. See the Rooms Appendix for additional details.

NAME		SCORE	HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION	NOTES
Big rock		10	Drop (rocky box slime)	A massive mass of solid stone emerging from the earth.	—
Bigonias		50	Dig up with shovel	A plant found only in the rainiest of rainforests.	—
Blighted branch		0	Dig up with shovel	A shriveled stick that's as black as night.	—
Bogwort		0	Dig up with shovel	This poisonous plant grows in sharp, spikey shafts resembling a sea urchin.	—
Bones		10	Drop (skeleton, skeleton scrapper, skeleton soldier, dark skeleton)	No reply. It's just a corpse. (Once placed, bones can't be picked up again.)	—
Branch		20	Dig up small branches with a shovel	The lopped-off limb of a tall tree, perfect for planting in the ground.	—

BONUS ITEMS

APPENDIX II: BUILDING BLOCKS AND MATERIALS

The items listed in this section are for the construction of buildings, or whatever else your imagination can conjure. The blocks and other items listed here come from both gathering and building. Provided you have a powerful enough weapon, you can tear down walls of the shelters and ruins found in each chapter and claim them as your own.

BLOCKS YOU MUST GATHER

The creation of many types of blocks is beyond the ability of even the greatest Builder. What can't be built must be knocked loose of its environment before you can use it. Some materials are more durable than others and require powerful weapons (or cannons, or wrecking balls) before you can add them to your inventory.

MINERAL VEINS

Mineral veins are found throughout Alefgard, but only in Free Play Mode can you use them as building material. Once you create the Hammer of the Builder, use it to knock veins (and basalt) loose instead of cracking them open to get the ore from inside. When it comes to building, veins are the same as any other block, except they're a bit flashier.

TEMPORARY BLOCK MODIFIERS

Temporary block modifiers change a single layer of earth blocks in a 5x5 area. The change will not affect earth that has been raked, but it will continue to cover earth blocks even if something is set on top of them. These are temporary modifiers because the growth vanishes if the block is knocked loose from its position.

NAME		HOW ACQUIRED	DESCRIPTION	NOTES
Grass seed		Drop (dracky)	A sprouting seed of bright green grass.	Grows grass on nearby earth floors.
Lemongrass seed		Drop (drackolyte)	A sprouting seed of golden grass.	Grows lemongrass on nearby earth floors.
Lichen limb		Drop (muddy hand)	A suspiciously soggy stick that won't stop wiggling.	Grows moss on nearby earth floors.
Limegrass seed		Drop (drackyma)	A sprouting seed of dark green grass.	Grows limegrass on nearby earth floors.
Witchgrass seed		Drop (drohl drone)	A sprouting seed of gangrenous grass.	Grows witchgrass on nearby earth floors.

Mossy Earth Blocks

A second way to obtain mossy earth is to hunt down muddy box slime enemies in Rimuldar and Kol/Galenholm. They sometimes drop individual mossy earth blocks.

BUILDING MATERIALS YOU CREATE

You can create the following blocks and other building materials, though you may also find some out in the world.

ALPHABETICAL LISTING

The tables on the following pages divide building materials into groups that share certain characteristics. Use the alphabetical listing to find the table with the item you need. The Crafting Stations column lists the crafting station where you can build a given item, which changes depending on the chapter you're playing. The Crafting Sub-menu column indicates which section in the crafting station's list the item appears in.

Stone coping (x10)		10	Stone (x3)	A semi-cylindrical stone sculpture.

PERMANENT BLOCK MODIFIERS

Unlike temporary modifiers, which only change the look of blocks, earth blocks hit with permanent block modifiers become an entirely new block. Once changed, there's no going back to earth blocks, no matter how many times you hit the block.

Unending Block Modifiers

To build permanent block modifiers, you need only three of a given type of block. The modifiers are capable of changing far more than three blocks at a time. To make additional block modifiers, just knock loose newly created blocks and take them to the nearest crafting station, then repeat until you have all the block modifiers you need.

Flooring modifiers change a single layer of earth blocks. The effect spreads out in a 5x5 shape and goes under walls. Cladding modifies contiguous blocks set on or above the floor. Where flooring is limited to a flat 5x5 square, cladding will go up and down and even around corners.

NAME		REQUIRED MATERIALS	DESCRIPTION	NOTES
Blue flagstone flooring (x5)		Blue flagstone (x3)	A covering that adds class to any earthen floor.	Changes nearby earth floors into blue flagstone blocks.
Brick cladding (x5)		Brick wall (x3)	A covering that adds class to any earthen wall.	Changes nearby earth walls into brick wall blocks.

APPENDIX III: OTHER CRAFTED ITEMS

This chapter covers the remaining items (not equipment, which is the next section) that can be crafted. The items included here range from consumables (items such as medicine, keys, and food), to intermediate materials (i.e. ingots) and the decorations you need to turn an empty room into an en-suite bedroom.

Limited-Use Items

Special and legendary items that are each built a single time and have limited, though dramatic, use are not included here. The omitted items are ancient altar, Ancient Emblem, Lyre of Ire, Rainbow Drop, Staff of Rain, Sunstone, ultimate key, and verdant vision.

ALPHABETICAL LISTING

The tables on the following pages divide crafted items into groups that share certain characteristics. Use the alphabetical listing to find the table with the item you need. The Crafting Stations column lists the crafting station where you can build a given item, which changes depending on the chapter you're playing. The Crafting Sub-menu column indicates which section in the crafting station's list the item appears in.

CRAFTING STATIONS

You begin each chapter with access to at least one crafting station, but you must build additional and improved crafting stations in order to build everything you need to save the lands of Alefgard. To get the most out of crafting stations, create rooms that provide bonuses so the residents can do their share of building. Sometimes they're able to create items that are otherwise unobtainable.

APPENDIX VI: ENEMIES

The enemies you face during the adventure in Story mode are presented here. It's important to note that many enemies appear in multiple areas and have wildly different stats. In some cases, the same enemy has lower stats than one you encountered in a previous chapter. Special abilities don't change, but the effectiveness of those attacks does. The attack stat is a measure of an enemy's ability to inflict damage, with a higher score indicating greater damage potential. An enemy's resistance to the damage you inflict is measured by its defense stat, with a higher score indicating a greater resistance to damage.

The Rate columns reflect the likelihood of an enemy dropping a given item. A ★★★ rating means the enemy is more likely than not to drop the item when it's defeated. A ★ rating indicates the item does not appear often.

BEWAREWOLF

Don't allow bewarewolves to howl and call for help. When they join assaults on your base, their powerful claw attacks are strong enough to tear down walls.

BOSS TROLL

Large and in charge, boss trolls are always a special encounter. You'll never bump into one outside of specific circumstances, such as completing a challenge in Kol and Galenholm, where each drops a different item. They're ponderously slow but dangerously powerful. Do not disturb them until your equipment is top-of-the-line for a given land.

GHOUL

There's only one place to encounter this undead monster in Alefgard—the holy sanctum of Rimuldar. Ghouls use a poison attack, which is launched upward. They also summon help. One powerful individual carries a strength ring.

GIGANTES

Giganteses appear only in special encounters. Two are part of a challenge for Chapter 3 (each drops a different item), and another leads an assault on your base in Kol. Both of their attacks, a foot stomp and an overhead smash with their clubs, are slow and powerful enough to radiate damage outward from their point of impact.

Green dragons are part of a challenge in Cantlin (each green dragon drops a different item), and guard important items in Kol and Galenholm, and in Tantegel (though the Tantegel dragon is weakened). You never encounter them wandering. They use a spin attack and flame breath, both of which require charging before use.

KNIGHT ABERRANT

In Cantlin and Tantegel, knights aberrant are never encountered randomly. They act as guards (that may drop keys) or join attacks on your base. They use an overhead sword attack and will sometimes hide behind their shield, which grants them immunity. If you see one begin to charge an attack, try to guide it into a sturdy wall or other item. It becomes briefly dazed and vulnerable to attack.
